Where Shall We Live.

By Arthur Brisbane

(Copyright 1923 by Star Company)

THIS September we sold to Europe more goods than September last year to the extent of sixty-four million dollars, and our imports dropped forty-three millions. Not cheerful for Europe's trade balance, but comforting for American finance. Cotton is strong and "briskly rising."

It's due, unfortunately, to heavy floods and fear of frost. It would be better for us if Europe would get back to real business and resume buying.

In the Gulf of Mannar, so says news from India, twenty miles of pearl-bearing oyster beds have been discovered. They are close to the ancient fisheries of Ceylon, where, in the days of Greeks and Romans, the Ceylon diver "went all naked to the hungry sharks."

Let the fishers begin working. We have prosperity enough in America to buy all those twenty miles of pearls without hurting the market.

It would be otherwise if somebody should suddenly discover a twenty-mile ledge or a small sized mountain of gold. What a shock it would give to finance if there were found anywhere an accumulation of gold as big as an ordinary battleship!

Divine Providence, knowing that men are too ignorant to understand real values, controls the supply and demand so that men have something to fight and struggle for.

Next to the column that tells about the pearls you read about an American, J. C. Freeman, paying a quarter of a million dollars for twenty-one magnificent old violins to bring into America, including the famous Stradivarius Betts-Strad.

One pearl from the new oyster beds might be worth more in dollars than the fine old violins. But among civilized people one note from one of those violins might be worth more than the twenty miles of pearls.

Dr. William Heid, a Chicago scientist, back from the laboratory of the German specialist, Dr. Abderhalden, promises future men a life running into hundreds of years. The Englishman, Thomas Parr, who lived to 154 and Startsen, who lived to 185, will seem like children to men of the future when they learn how to rid their system of cholin, a ptomaine poison that brings on old age and death ahead of time.

Very interesting, possibly true. But can the scientific men keep the brain young and ready to receive new impressions and new truths, or can they keep only the body alive.

Unless they could keep youth in the brain it would be no favor to postpone death.

What will American city crowding be in forty years, and where will the millions live? New York City officially reports a shortage of 165,000 apartments, with forty-two persons living in five rooms. Statisticians predict a New York City of twenty millions before fifty years pass.

Then what? And when seventy-five millions are scattered along the Pacific coast from San Diego to San Francisco, a condition that is coming, who will use them?

Gifford Pinchot says it is Coolidge's duty to take personal charge of prohibition enforcement. That is looked upon as good politics, assuming that Pinchot means to run for President in 1924. In any case, there is no doubt of Pinchot's sincerity. But is it really a President's duty to enforce one law more than another?

Ninety per cent, at least, of Governor Pinchot's prosperous friends drink all they want. The people, as a whole, do not respect the Volstead law or take it seriously. And no nation, except under despotic government, has ever enforced a law disregarded by the people. Prohibition can be made useful and important at every election, and to oppose it in 1924 would probably mean political death for any presidential candidate. But politics aside, what can be done about a law when the rich laugh at it and workmen resent it? Can you enforce it?

Another bright spot: Western Union earned over ten dollars a share in nine months.

Russell Sage used to say, "Young man, everybody has at least one chance to buy Western Union at [illegible]. When your chance comes, [illegible]. Did you miss your chance?

The garment workers — they probably made your wife's new dress—have started a bank, with a half a million capital about two millions deposits, and plenty more orders that came from. To make labor conservative, see that it has something to conserve. Trade unions entering the ranks of the bourgeoisie will disturb socialist leaders and make plutocracy feel safer.

6 Men, 2 Women Held In Superior Dry Raid

SUPERIOR, Wis.—Armed with ten search warrants, a squad of 18 police officers swooped down on soft drink establishments in the city under suspicion of violating the city liquor ordinance Monday afternoon, and arrested six men and two women. Besides a large quantity of alleged moonshine whiskey, the officers confiscated one still, 300 barrels of mash and a large amount of paraphernalia used in making the illicit liquor.

Reservoir Crumbles; Perils City

Torrent Creeping Toward Business Section; Many Citizens Marooned

BULLETIN
(By the Associated Press)
OKLAHOMA CITY.—The first definite report of loss of life in the flood which struck here early today was received when police rescued R. H. Loose and his daughter, Bessie 10, from a treetop in Wheeler Park and learned from them that a boat in which they had attempted to escape had been capsized, drowning Mrs. Loose and a daughter Clara, 8. Nineteen persons are in hospitals suffering from exposure. The river here was falling at 2 p. m. and danger to the business district apparently passed. The water got no closer than three blocks from the main business center.

Wall of Water Let Loose
(By the Associated Press.)
OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla. — A catastropric flood gripped Oklahoma City today.

With virtually the entire south side inundated, flood waters of the north Canadian river, rising rapidly and creeping upward from the lowlands, already are lapping at the threshold of the retail business center of the city; with every prospect that the crest of the high water will not be reached for some time.

Sweeping savagely southeastward, the torrent, swollen by rains which have fallen for four days in the west and north central sections of the state, broke through the municipal reservoir ten miles west of here early today and flung a pent-up foot wall of water downstream to spread further disaster to the already stricken lowlands of Oklahoma City's south side.

This volume of water reached here about 4 o'clock this morning.

Within an hour the water had spread to within 18 blocks of the principal business district both from the south and southwest corners.

So far there has not been loss of life reported but numbers of persons are believed to be imperiled.

A swirling current defeated efforts of firemen to reach fifteen persons marooned in the Mulligan Grove district in the lowlands. Row boats were unable to breast the current and effect a rescue after earlier efforts had resulted in the rescue of several persons. One man is said to be hanging desperately to a rafter in a church. A family of 12, five of them small children, also is marooned in a house in the Grove district.

Heads For Gulf
(By the Associated Press)
NEW ORLEANS—The Gulf disturbance reported yesterday 200 miles off the Texas coast, was headed this morning for the Louisiana coast, and according to warnings issued by the weather bureau at Washington would strike the mainland at about longitude 91 west and move northeast. The warnings added that the storm had reached hurricane intensity.

Believe Wires Are Down
Because of the heavy storm, which began in the gulf states and is sweeping inland, the United States weather bureau here up to a late hour had not received its customary reports of weather conditions in that section. Telephone and telegraph wires were reported blown down, according to Eric R. Miller, meteorologist at the Madison station. Mr. Miller reports a similar storm in the Northwest, headed in this direction.

Barry Fined $100 For Dry Law Violation

Rather than face a trial by jury in Judge A. C. Hoppmann's superior court, Harry Barry, 812 West Washington avenue, this morning, changed a plea of not guilty to a charge of violating the state dry law to a plea of guilty.

Judge A. C. Hoppmann imposed a fine of $100 and costs on Barry. This was Barry's second appearance in superior court on a charge of violating the state dry law. Arrested last spring for this offense he was dismissed from charges because of lack of evidence. He was fined for the second arrest which occurred several weeks ago.

Mob in Berlin Storms Stock Exchange; Police Battle Throng at Doors

Anti-Drys See Campaign Aimed Against Tobacco

(By the Associated Press)
MILWAUKEE, Wis.—Propaganda, "spread by a fraction of the populace, threatening the inherent rights of liberty loving citizens, "will eventually bring about laws prohibiting the use of tobacco, according to a statement today by the Association against the Prohibition amendment, Wisconsin Division.

The association declared that "apathy on the part of the general public was responsible for the enactment of the prohibition amendment," and it asserted that the same thing will be accomplished with respect to the use of tobacco.

If the use of tobacco were prohibited, it would strike an economic blow at an industry in which millions of dollars are invested, as well as producing incomes to thousands of people, the statement said.

Food Riots Continue As Crowds Attack German Shops

(By the Associated Press)
LONDON—A mob tried to force its way into the Berlin stock exchange this morning says a Central News dispatch from the German capital. The doors were promptly closed and the police took up the task of dealing with the attacking throng.

The mob also tried to storm the city hall, the message states, but the police appeared in strong force and seemed to be masters of the situation after the fierce fighting in which a number of persons were injured, several seriously. For the moment, the city hall and the stock exchange have been locked and strongly guarded, and the Wilhelmstrasse closed to pedestrians and vehicles.

Mob Raids Food Shops
(By the Associated Press)
BERLIN — The raiding of food shops, particularly bakeries, has been reported on Monday from various parts of Berlin.

Demonstrators against the high prices during the day in two parts of the city occupied by workers smashed the windows of bakeries and policemen who endeavored to protect property were disarmed before reinforcements could be brought up.

There were several clashes between police and demonstrators in these sections, and the police had to fire their revolvers in the air to clear the streets of trouble makers.

Amundsen Well Again Try Polar Air Flight

NEW YORK—Capt. Roald Amundsen, Arctic explorer on his arrival last night from Alaska, outlined his plans for another attempt to fly over the North Pole next summer. On this attempt, the start will be made from Spitzbergen, instead of Alaska as in the trial that failed last summer. Capt. Amundsen and his aide, Haakon H. Hammer, who accompanies him, will sail this week for Norway to complete arrangements. All metal airplanes will be used, equipped to land on either snow, ice or water. He hopes to fly directly over the pole to Alaska.

Five Men Die in Michigan Forest Blaze

Fires Again A Menace; Gale Fans Flames In Minnesota

(By the Associated Press)
MARQUETTE, Mich.—Five men, members of a construction crew employed by the Lake Independence Lumber Co., were burned to death in the first serious outbreak of forest fires in upper Michigan on Monday.

The bodies of the five have not been recovered, the intense heat and smoke preventing rescue workers from coming within a half mile of the spot where the bodies are believed to lie.

Crews of men were being recruited here Monday night to aid in combating the flames.

Ask Fire Station on East Side

Appeal Filed Today To Come Before Common Council

Efforts to obtain improved fire protection for the city territory east of the Yahara river took definite shape today with the filing of an appeal by the East Side Business Men's association for the building of a new station.

The communication, addressed to the common council and filed with City Clerk Harry Buser, was sent by M. D. Larson, J. B. Houston and Martin Loftsgordon. Members of the committee have asked that the request be considered by the board of estimates for inclusion in the 1924 budget.

The move for a station on the East Side has the support of Fire Chief Charles W. Heyl, who will appear before the board tonight. The proposal is expected to be discussed at the meeting.

East Side business men feel that their property is endangered by lack of a fire station in the territory, according to Mr. Houston, a real estate dealer with offices at 210 Atwood ave.

"The nearest station, that on from the center of the East Side Williamson st., is about a mile business section," Mr. Houston said today. "In case of a serious fire, necesary delay might reult in serious damage."

Recommendation of a station on the East Side has been a part of reports of the fire department for several years, Fire Chief Heyl said.

"A fire truck must travel two miles from the Williamson st. station to get to the eastern city limits," Chief Heyl declared. "A conflagration could get a dangerous start while the apparatus was on the way."

No estimate of the cost of a station has been made, the chief said.

"If the funds for the station were included in the 1924 budget the building itself could be completed late next year," he said. "Installing of the equipment would follow."

Although no site has been selected or recommended for the station, East Side leaders feel that the most advantageous would be near Division st. and Atwood ave.

Ambler Guilty on One Count, Jury Verdict

Drove Recklessly But Did Not Hit Other Car, Is Finding

Ralph Ambler was found guilty of reckless driving on the San Prairie road the night of July 24, the night that Miss Jessie Mapes, Madison nurse and her companion, Leonard Houghton, were injured when the motorcycle on which they were riding was struck by a lightless car. The jury disagreed on whether or not he was the driver of the car that hit Houghton's machine.

Sentence will be imposed tomorrow by Judge A. C. Hoppmann.

Ambler will have to go to jail in spite of the jury's disagreement, it is believed, because court costs for the trial and preliminary hearing amount to more than $300. Ambler has filed a pauper's affidavit. The jury held that Ambler was guilty of driving on the Sun Prairie road the night of the crash without lights on his car.

He jumped off and started to run across the road. He did not see the car approaching. Skaar could not see the boy until he dropped in front of his machine.

2 Girls Sought

Oregon "Runaway" Girls Again Gone, Warrants Issued

Vivian Iint and Nora Thorkelson of Oregon, Wisconsin, girls, who ran away from their homes and were found in Madison about two weeks ago, have again disappeared, it was learned today. Warrants for their arrest have been placed in the hands of Sheriff Julius Krug here.

They left Oregon yesterday morning when they were supposedly on their way to school. They were seen in Evansville late in the afternoon, and it is believed that they are headed for Chicago. When returned to their homes two weeks ago, they are said to have made threats that they would leave again at the first opportunity.

Statutory charges against Leo Jenin were given to a jury in superior court this afternoon.

Pipers and Lorraine Exempted

Owen Opinion Will Not Apply To Past Contracts, Ruling

The Wisconsin Supreme court this morning upheld the validity of the law passed by the last legislature limiting the height of buildings in Wisconsin. The law limits the height of buildings in cities of the first class (Milwaukee) to 125 feet and other cties of the state to 100 feet.

The court held, however, that building operations begun in good faith before the enactment of the law are not to be affected by the law. Under this ruling the Piper hotel and the new Milwaukee telephone building do not come within the law. Justices Rosenberry, Crownhart and Owen dissented from this holding, however.

The Lorraine hotel on W. Washington ave., it is said, is also excepted from the decision, and will be permitted to build to its contemplated height of ten or eleven stories. The building permit calls for a ten story building, but it is understood that plans are underway for erecting an additional story. The Lorraine hotel would be excluded on the grounds that it began its work in good faith prior to the passage of the state law.

The court has finally ended a long fight in Wisconsin on the limitation of the height of buildings. Two years ago the 1921 legislature passed a law limiting the height of buildings around the capitol square. The court held this law unconstitutional because it was not general in its application.

At this session, however, a new law was drafted under the direction of Attorney General Ekern and Phil LaFollette. This law has now been sustained.

Justice Owen, writing the opinion says, in part:

"Legislation limiting the height of buildings has been expressly upheld by the supreme court of the United States. We therefore hold that the legislature has the power to limit the height of buildings in populous centers of the state in promotion of the public health and safety.

"Recently so-called zoning laws authorizing municipalities to enact ordinances prescribing zoning districts and limiting the height and character of buildings therein, have become quite common. Such laws and ordinances enacted pursuant thereto have been sustained. That this is a more scientific and satisfactory way of limiting the height and character of buildings is quite apparent. It enables the individual city to prescribe regulations which conform to local requirements and conditions and are supported by local public sentiment. Granting that the more scientific and satisfactory way of accomplishing this result, so far as high buildings in populous centers constitute a menace to public health and safety are concerned, is by means of the so-called zoning ordinances, it cannot be held that the legislature may not accomplish directly that which it may do directly.

"There is ample reason to suspect that a desire on the part of the legislature to limit the height of buildings around the capitol square in the city of Madison prompted the enactment of this law. But the motives which prompted the legislature to exercise its power in this respect are not subject to judicial review, approval or condemnation."

The law is held to apply only to cities.

Contracts let, and building operations begun in good faith long before the enactment of the law, are held not to be affected by the law.

Wisconsin for Underwood, Is Being Planned

M. K. Reilly, Fond du Lac, Sounds Out Democrats Here Today

A fight is to be made in Wisconsin for a delegation to the next democratic national convention instructed for Senator Oscar W. Underwood of Alabama.

This became known today when M. K. Reilly, leading democrat and former member of congress from the Fond du Lac district, visited Madison. While here Mr. Reilly conferred with A. G. Schmedeman, John Moran and other democrats.

A nation wide organization in favor of Underwood is already under way. The conservative wing of the democratic party is looking with favor on the Underwood candidacy and powerful influence in the east are already lined up for the Alabama senator.

Local democrats, however, are somewhat reticent in expressing any concrete views at this time. McAdoo has many friends in Wisconsin and it is expected that Underwood and McAdoo will fight it out for the Wisconsin delegates.

Mr. Reilly has conferred with a number of democrats in Wisconsin ond maintains that he is meeting with much encouragement in favor of the Underwood candidocy. It is understood that delegates pledged to Underwood will be placed in the field in this state.

Janesville Murder Seen As Skeleton Is Found

JANESVILLE, Wis.—Southern Wisconsin added another murder mystery to its already long string on Monday with the finding of a battered skull and skeleton on the Stockman farm, about seven miles northeast of this city, by Walter Wheelock, local man, while hunting rabbits. Wheelock found a skeleton, buried in a shallow grave. Rains are believed to have washed the earth covering the skull. Coroner Lynn Whaley found that the man came to his death from a fractured skull, believed to have been administered by a blunt instrument. An old shoe, a pocket knife, and a pair of glasses were found near the skeleton. Pices of clothing were also found.

Independents Fear Standard, Ekern Claims

Says Trust Tank Wagon Price Fixes Arbitrary Rate In Wisconsin

(By the Associated Press.)

CHICAGO—Independent oil companies in Wisconsin are restrained from making their own prices by fear of retaliation by the Standard Oil Company of Indiana, according to Herman L. Ekern, attorney general of Wisconsin, who is attending a conference here of attorneys general of many states inquiring into any price manipulation in the oil industry.

A Wisconsin investigation of the petroleum industry, he said, had brought out that prices in Wisconsin are based on the Standard Oil tank wagon price, allowing a margin for freight, distribution and profit. Half of the gasoline sold in the state was Standard Oil gasoline, about 200 independents who buy at the market price selling the remainder.

The independents are restrained from making their own prices by fear of retaliation by the Standard Company and by a standard policy of meeting the price made in any territory" his statement said. "The independent dealer has nothing to gain by reducing his price except a loss of a part of his margin price, because the Standard immediately meets the reduction in price."

A fair margin between the refinery delivery price and the tank wagon price would be 3½ to 4 or 4½ cents a gallon according to testimony of both independents and Standard officials the statement said. Margins in Wisconsin ranged a little over 4 cents to nearly ten cents a gallon, prior to the price cut and since then from 4 to 6 cents it was stated.

"The Standard Oil Company of Indiana owns the mid-west refining company operating in the Wyoming field, and a half interest in the Sinclair Crude Oil Producing Co., operating in the Mid-Continent field" the statement said. "Each company controls half of the directors.

"Under arrangements made by the latter company, the Standard Oil Company of Indiana has a direct interest in maintaining an excessive price for crude oil and the chairman of the board of directors of the Standard Oil company stated that for years the production of crude oil had been restricted in the Wyoming territory and that such restriction was now in effect in the mid-continent field through the limitations of purchases by the Sinclair, Prairie Oil Company and other purchasing companies.

"The resultant higher prices of crude oil directly increased the prices of gasoline to the consumer. At that the margins and the profits in the past have been very excessive. Gasoline is now being sold at a margin in excess of that necessary.

"Another feature that developed in the hearings is the fact that under agreements, licensing the use of the Burton Cracking process for increasing the yield of gasoline from crude oil, the Standard Oil Company of Indiana, has obtained agreements from other companies in the Standard Oil group not to market gasoline obtained by this process in the Standard Oil of Indiana territory.

"It has also been made clear that the various companies in the Standard Oil group operate under a plan of not selling gasoline and kerosene in the territory occupied by another company of that group. The exceptions to this are so rare as to make the rule even more apparent."

Wisconsin is desirous of cooperating with other states in bringing out all the facts and taking such course as shall be deemed necessary to protect the public interests, the attorney general said.

W.C.T.U. Membership Has Been Increased by 2400 in Year, Says Mrs. Johnson, State President

Organization Now Has Enrollment of 12,000; Sachtjen Attacked

That the membership of the Wisconsin Christian Temperance Union has been increased 2400 during the past year was the statement made here today by Mrs. Mary Scott Johnson, Superior, president of the organization.

Mrs. Johnson came to Madison following the state convention held at Portage last week. The officers elected at the Portage convention follow:

President—Mrs. Mary Scott Johnson, Superior.

Vice president—Mrs. Annie Warrens, Stoughton.

Corresponding Secretary—Mrs. Eva C. Lewis, Juneau.

Recording Secretary—Mrs. Lila H. Mattison, Clintonville.

Treasurer—Mrs. Lila J. Stout, Rice Lake.

"We now have a membership of 12,000 in Wisconsin," said Mrs. Johnson. "This is an increase of 2400 for the past year. The Association, Against the Prohibition Amendment has announced that it will present 1,000,000 names to Congress of those who are opposed to the eighteenth amendment. We will also file with Congress the names of 1,000,000 men and women who favor the eighteenth amendment."

Mrs. Johnson maintained that prohibition has not had a fair chance because men have been appointed to administer the law who are not in favor of the statute. Mrs. Johnson is sending to the different W. C. T. U. locals of the state a copy of resolutions adopted at the annual convention of the Wisconsin Federation of Women's clubs held at Fond du Lac. The resolution follows:

"Whereas, we deem it an evidence of disloyalty and poor citizenship to disregard the laws passed for the enforcement of the eighteenth amendment to the constitution of the United States; and

"Whereas, the open and flagrant violation of those laws has a tendency to weaken authority and cause disregard of all law; and

"Whereas, it is a well established fact that laws cannot be successfully enforced unless the officials who are elected or appointed to enforce them sincerely believe in their enforcement; and

"Therefore, be it resolved that the Wisconsin Federation of Women's clubs in convention assembled, deplore the appointment of Herman Sachtjen as prohibition commissioner and of all men and women known not to be in sympathy with the work they are called upon to do, since we are convinced that such action is not in interests of good government and it is further resolved that a copy of this resolution be sent to his Excellency, Gov. J. J. Blaine."

Crown Queen at Watertown Holstein Show

Thousands at Opening See Parade; Judging Is Started

(By the Associate Press)

WATERTOWN, Wis.—Holstein dairymen and cattle experts from many parts of the U. S. were here Tuesday to pay homage to that branch of the Holstein strain known as the Homesteads in the community now known the world over as "birthplace" of that breed of dairy battle.

Along the midway of Watertown's bedecked streets one saw vast crowds partaking of the famous Watertown Goose handwiches and refreshing Holstein milk, served plenteously to the holiday throngs. It is estimated that more than 15,000 persons were on hand at noon, and those in charge of the show and sale expected an additional 5,000 persons before night.

The celebration was given enthusiastic impetus this morning when announcement was made by the management of the selection of Miss Eva Gross of Jefferson, Wis., as dairy day queen after an exciting finish of a race of votes between several contestants.

Miss Vera Gathwaite of Oconomowoc was a close second.

Coronation ceremonies took place during the morning in a program in which five bands, including the New Holstein high school band participated.

Mayor Herman Wertheimer presided at the ceremony and presented the prize of a double set diamond ring to the dairy queen. Judging began in the show ring. The parade, one of the largest ever seen in this community, contained more than 50 dairy floats in addition to more than a mile of other parade vehicles. Moving picture men from the largest news-views film companies were on hand to make moving pictures of all events.

E. J. Phillipp, former governor; J. M. Kelly, vice president of the National Holstein Ass'n.; State Senator J. M. Hackney of St. Paul; John Jones, Wisconsin commissioner of agriculture; and J. P. Riordan, president of the Homestead Club of America, furnished the speaking talent for the day.

Tomorrow the final day of the show, will be devoted to the sale of pure bred stock of the homestead Holstein strain.

Coolidge Asks Freight Cut on Export Wheat

Also Urges Rail Head To Slash Tariff On Outbound Coal

(By the Associated Press)

WASHINGTON — President Coolidge today suggested to Samuel Rea, president of the Pennsylvania railroad, that a freight rate reduction be put into effect by the railroads on wheat designed for export and that railroads institute the same rate on export coal as on coal for domestic use.

The suggestions were made by the president to Mr. Rea at a White House conference and the Pennsylvania executive probably will consider them in conjunction with executives of other larger railroads.

Like his predecessors, Wilson and Harding, President Coolidge is adverse to carrying out the directions of congress, embodied in the merchant marine act of 1920 that commercial treaties preventing the U. S. from instituting preferential freights be abrogated.

Persons having rooms which they wish to rent to former students and others here for the university homecoming are asked to list them with the Association of Commerce by calling Badger 7305. Most rooms will be needed by visitors for Friday and Saturday nights, Oct. 26 and 27.

Court Knocks Out Law Barring Judges From Directing Verdicts

Power of Bench Is Endorsed

Hold Law Prohibiting Power of Judge Is Unconstitutional

The Wisconsin supreme court held today that a statute enacted by the 1923 legislature, prohibiting judges from directing verdicts, was unconstitutional as an interference with the grant of power given the judiciary by the constitution.

Justice Rosenberry, writing the opinion, said that there is evidence in some quarters of a growing conviction that our system of representative government in which the powers of government are divided is not adequate and that the parliamentary system, which makes the voice of the legislative branch supreme as in England, is better.

"Whether or not this conviction is a point of fact sound is a debatable political question, but until the people in a constitutional manner have withdrawn from the courts or limited the courts, in the exercise of the judicial power conferred upon them by the constitution, it is the plain duty of every judge to maintain the boundaries of that power unimpaired. It may well be that courts have submitted with too much willingness and in some instances with supineness to legislative interference.

"It is not supposed that the legislature acted with conscious impropriety in the enactment of the law prohibiting directed verdicts. Hardly, in the history of this state, conflicts between the legislative and judicial branches have been infrequent. The boundaries which separate the two fields are therefore shadowy and not well defined. It is the duty of the court to define them and see that they are respected.

"Courts have not, as some people suppose, any option in the matter. The judicial officer may not reach this or that conclusion because at the moment it may seem wise and expedient so to do. He may not fritter or barter away the power committed to his hands.

"For the reasons stated, Chapter 31 is void as in contravention of the constitutional provisions. The judgment of the circuit court was right."

The validity of the Olsen law, forbidding judges from directing jury verdicts on the ground of insufficiency of cause of action, was involved in this case. Judge Fowler in circuit court held that the statute was an interference with judicial powers on the part of the legislative branch of the government. From this decision appeal was taken to the supreme court. While contention was made that the statute was unconstitutional, the attorney general contended that there was no interference with judicial prerogatives, and that the statute merely regulated procedure, a right that the legislature holds.

Height Limit Law Upheld; Exempt Piper

son Gas and Electric company to build new structures adjacent to their gas plant, Judge Owen's opinion says:

"In response to the suggestion of H. L. Butler who appeared as amicus curia, and who filed a brief on behalf of the Madison Gas and Electric Co., emphasizing the fact that the gas company owns property adjacent to property upon which a coal elevator is constructed, and that because the coal elevator may be built to a height exceeding 100 feet the gas company is denied the equal protection of the law, we respond that, in our opinion the proposed gas tank is not affected by the law as it cannot be termed a building within the meaning of the act."

Regarding the exemptions in the act the opinion of Judge Owen reads:

"It is claimed that the exemption of grain and coal elevators, sugar refineries and cement works from the operation of the law constitutes an arbitrary classification. It is not our task to justify these exemptions. We cannot condemn them unless they are beyond all reason and this we do not feel warranted in saying."

That the court cannot take into account a memorandum attached to a bill by the governor was also a point made in the Owen opinion. Judge Owen's opinion says:

"It is further argued that the law is invalid because it was not approved by the governor. It is conceded that he signed the act, but, in a memorandum attached to the act, he indulged in some criticism thereof. It is argued that the memorandum indicates that the act did not meet with his approval and unless approved by him, it did not become a law. We hold his signature to the act is conclusive evidence of his approval thereof and that a court can take no notice of the memorandum attached to the act. It is apparent from the memorandum that the law did not fully respond to his views on the question but that he preferred such legislation to none."

The Wisconsin building heights law came under an attack from three quarters before the state supreme court passed on its constitutionality, which was questioned by Piper brothers in Madison, the Wisconsin Telephone company in Milwaukee and Hotel Wisconsin Realty company in Green Bay.

This statute limited the height of buildings in all cities of Wisconsin, except Milwaukee, to 100 feet, and in Milwaukee set the maximum height at 125 feet. Attack on the law came from companies contemplating structures in excess of the height limit established by the law, which was enacted late in the 1923 session of the legislature.

The attorney general's department, defending constitutionality of the law, argued before the supreme court that the statute was enacted under the police powers of the state, as a protection to the life, safety and welfare of citizens. Buildings of a height in excess of the statutory limit, the state's attorneys contended, increased traffic problems, affected the health and welfare of workers in the structures and established a continuing problem as property holders vied with one another to extend the height of their buildings.

Upon this argument, Judge O. A. Stolen of the Dane county superior court, held the statute constitutional in the case of Piper brothers against the state. Appeal was then taken to the supreme court.

Those contending that the law was unconstitutional, argued that it was not proper exercise of the police power, and that the only reasonable purpose was to protect the state capitol building in Madison from encroachment of surrounding property owners. The statute was not enacted to protect the public health, safety or welfare, these attorneys argued, holding that there was no public need for the law.

The building heights law was enacted by the legislature shortly after the supreme court held that a law limiting the height of buildings in Madison to 90 feet was unconstitutional because of its restricted application.

Barnett Will Stay in Office Is Court Rule

Kenosha District Attorney Wins Against Symmonds

Morris Barnett, district attorney of Kenosha county, will remain in office pending further court consideration of questions arising from the November, 1922 general election, the Wisconsin Supreme court held today in reversing a decision by Judge E. B. Belden in Kenosha county circuit court, which has held that Frank S. Symmonds had been elected district attorney and Barnett defeated.

Judge E. B. Belden in the lower court held that the failure of 583 Kenosha voters to have their names on the registry list disqualified them from voting and gave the election to Symmonds. From this decision Barnett appealed. He had taken over the office on the first of January.

The general election had resulted in a narrow margin of one vote favoring Barnett for district attorney. The recount disclosed the unregistered voters, who Judge Belden held had no legal right to cast their ballots.

Attorneys for Barnett argued that voters could not legally be disqualified for failure to register.

Sheriff Dahl Elected, Says Court Decree

High Bench Settles Controversy In Marinette County

The controversy between Former Sheriff John A. Doberstein of Marinette county and Sheriff Oscar Dahl over possession of that office was ended by the Wisconsin Supreme court today when it upheld the lower court decision giving Dahl the position.

The court held that a "fair interpretation of the statutes requires us to hold that there was a failure to elect a sheriff in Marinette county and that such vacancy was intended to be supplied by a special election rather than by appointment.

"As between the two, the defendant has the better color of office as well as the better title to office of sheriff and was no mere intruder."

Sheriff Dahl took the jail by entering through the cellar door, when Doberstein refused to turn over the keys to him.

Trouble between Marinette county's chief law enforcement officials commenced last November when Doberstein was illegally re-elected sheriff to succeed himself over constitutional objections. After his disqualification a special election was called on the basis of an opinion given by Atty. Gen. William J. Morgan.

Doberstein ran his wife for the office against Dahl, an ex-service man. Dahl was elected, and Doberstein refused to give up the jail contending that the election was illegal and that the governor alone could name a sheriff by appointment.

While this controversy was growing in intensity, Dahl took matters in his own hands, entering the jail through the cellar door, and while Mrs. Doberstein was opening a door, grabbed the jail keys. Once entrenched in the jail fortress he ousted the Dobersteins and held sway.

The lower court upheld his action, and his election, and the controversy then was carried to the supreme court.

Agronomy and Soil Men Will Meet In Chicago

CHICAGO—A joint meeting of the American Society of Agronomy and the American Association of Soil Survey workers will be held here Nov. 13. A. R. Whitson of the Wisconsin college of agriculture will read a paper before the assembled soil men on "The Difficulties in Utilizing the Work of the Soil Survey." Whitson has introduced several new features into the soil survey maps of his own state which render them of greater value to the man who is looking over a piece of land before purchasing it. An attempt is being made to render the maps, which are ordinarily of a very technical nature, more understandable to the man on the farm.

Outside Buyers Cut Into Wisconsin Herds

Heavy inroads are being made on the dairy cow population of the state by buyers from other states, according to A. O. Collentine of the Wisconsin college of agriculture. He reports the demand for dairy cattle is much livelier than it has been for several years.

Widely scattered parts of the nation are represented by recent buyers and men now in the state making purchases. Herman Tagge and E. H. Coleman of Kansas made purchases recently; R. W. Latta of El Paso, Tex., was another buyer, while J. S. Engelken, Plymouth county, Iowa, invaded Dodge county for foundation stock to be used in the Hawkeyt state.

Joseph S bel, an escaped inmate of the soldiers' hospital is being sought in Madison today by police at request of hospital attendants. Seibel is described as being 35 years old, five feet, five inches tall, and weighs 130 pounds. The escaped veteran was dressed in a blue suit and was hatless when last seen.

Three Days' Cough Is Your Danger Signal

Chronic coughs and persistent colds lead to serious lung trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with twofold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and kills the germ.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by the medical fraternity as the greatest healing agency for the treatment of chronic coughs and colds and other forms of throat and lung troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and destroys the germs that lead to consumption.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of chronic cough and colds, bronchial asthma, catarrhal bronchitis and other forms of throat and lung diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or the flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold, no matter of how long standing, is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. Creomulsion Co., Atlanta, Ga.—Adv.

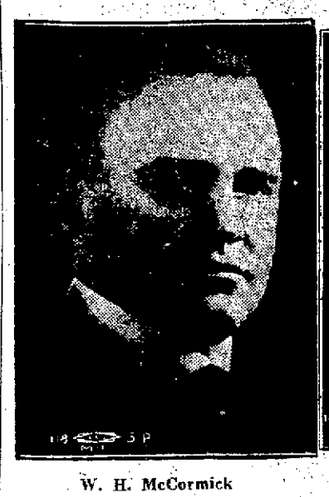
They Know Not Vacations



W. H. McCormick

Lawrence O. Larson

Julius J. Krug

Twenty-four hour working days for seven days a week, year after year, make the lives of Sheriff Julius Krug and two lieutenants, Undersheriff William McCormick and Deputy Sheriff Lawrence Larson, repeated rounds of tense watchfulness and public service.

Since these three men came into public office under Sheriff Henry Ireland in 1917, they have not had a day of vacation. They have been called from their slumbers five and six nights in a week to answer emergency calls in the most remote parts of the county.

During the course of a year they serve approximately 7,000 civil action summons and handle 1,000 court executions aside from tending to their duties in handling criminal cases in the county.

Sheriff Krug came to Madison in 1900 from Mayville, Iowa county, with the intentions of becoming a university football player under Phil King, then coach of the university grid men. Krug terminated his university career at the end of the first year because of lack of funds and went to work at the Gisholt Machine Co. to earn money with which to continue his education.

After two and a half years at the Gisholt plant Krug tried his hand at railroading with the Northwestern road here and at the end of that year he abandoned all thoughts of returning to the university and went into the Madison police department as a patrolman.

When he had served seven years in the employ of the department he was promoted to the rank of detective.

In 1917 Krug was made undersheriff under Henry Ireland. In 1919 Dane county elected him sheriff. When Undersheriff McCormick was elected sheriff in 1921, McCormick made Krug undersheriff again. Krug was reelected sheriff again last fall. His term expires in December, 1924.

Undersheriff William McCormick started out to be a machinist after he completed his high school work here in Madison. Soon after he had learned the machinist's trade he joined the Madison police department as a patrolman. During the 10 years he was on the police force he was a detective for four years.

When Krug was elected sheriff in 1919 McCormick was named undersheriff and he terminated his work with the Madison police department. He became sheriff in 1921.

Lawrence Larson, deputy sheriff, has been in the sheriff's office continuously since 1917. Before he became a public employe he was an insurance agent in Madison. Six years before he went into the sheriff's office he was clerk of the Circuit court here. Nor was the clerk's office his first public position. Larson began his public service while he was still working on his father's farm in the town of Dunn when he became chairman of the town board and became a member of the board of supervisors from that township. He was also clerk of that town at one time. Larson graduated from Luther college at Decorah, Ia.

Several Homes Placarded As Epidemic Reaches Its Height

(By Special Correspondent

BARABOO, Wis.—An epidemic of scarlet fever has broken out here. The Lyons school has been closed for a week and many cases are reported throughout the city. Lyons is a suburb of Baraboo on the west. All social activities have been called off until the epidemic subsides. Miss Norma Scott, county nurse, is preparing to examine all children before the Lyons school is re-opened. Several homes in the city are placarded.

An Elroy woman, Mrs. Hurlbutt, was severely injured, and Elmer Arner, of this city, suffered a deep cut over his eye when a car in which Mr. and Mrs. Hurlbutt and Mr. and Mrs. Arner and granddaughter, Miss Meecia Jean Cahoon, were returning to Elroy from Baraboo collided with a car driven by a Mrs. Sorgl while turning a corner near Reedsburg. The Arner car was damaged.

Hollenbeck, of this city, have been invited to attend the 75th anniversary of the Chicago and Northwestern Railway system on Wednesday, Oct. 24, when, as a special feature of the celebration, 100 veterans of the road, who have been in the service of the railway for 50 years or more, will be guests of the officials of the system.

Miss Georgia Nelson, 24 years old, died at the sanitarium at Wales, Sunday. She was born in North Dakota and moved to Baraboo in August, 1920. Miss Nelson is survived by her father and mother, one brother, Fred, and three sisters, Margaret and Esther and Mrs. Edward Nelson. The funeral services will be held Wednesday at 9:30 from St. Joseph's church, the Rev. E. C. O'Reilly conducting the services.

Methodists to Raise $83,750; Plan Meetings

Madison To Raise An Extra $8,000 To Aid 3 Projects

"The Spiritual Audacity of Methodism," will be the opening topic of a series of rally occasions for the Methodist church over the western half of the state of Wisconsin, beginning next week.

The Madison meeting is one of the five which have been in process the past week the others having been held at Tomah, Spooner, Minneral Point.

The Methodist church is entering upon a year of special promotion of missions, education, healing and evangelism. This means for the city of Madison about $8,000 above the current budgets of the four congregations.

Of the amount thus found, R. A. Chase, superintendent of the local district, pointed out that three Wisconsin Causes will obtain $83,750. That amount will be used as follows: For hospitals and home for the aged, $50,000; for superannuated minister endowment fund, $18,000 and for the Wesley Foundation at University of Wisconsin, $15,000. The same constituency being asked for this $83,750 for Wisconsin enterprises is to be asked to give $151,000 for city, rural, industrial, mountaineer, negro, Mexican, and other Home Missions,—for educational, evangelistic, medical and sociological Foreign Missions etc. To set forth the religious opportunities in these several fields is the purpose of the proposed series of meetings which will be held as follows, according to the announcement of Dr. James W. Irish, campaign director:

"Honey Week" Will Be 6 Feature Here Nov. 19-25

Preliminary plans are under way here for Wisconsin's "Honey week" which is to be staged November 19 to 25.

Wisconsin may well be termed the "land of milk and honey" for besides being a leader in the production of milk her bee products present an impressive sum. Honey producers in the state number 12,000. They maintain approximately 125,000 colonies of bees whose annual production mounts beyond the 6,000,000 pound mark.

The yearly output of beeswax alone returns $25,000 odd dollars to beemen in the state.

Butter Scoring Contest Planned Here Nov 6-8

There are no dues connected with the membership. All the Y. W. C. A. requires of its members is to live up to the association motto.

There will be a Y. W. C. A. banquet for all university women, students and faculty at 6 o'clock next Wednesday in Lathrop parlors. All university women are urged to come and become acquainted with the purpose of the Y. W. C. A.

Nine Hurt In Class Rush, Hospital Says

For the first time in the history of the infirmary there have been no cases sent there as a result of the class rush held last Saturday. Although there were several minor treatments for cuts and bruises given at the clinic, none were of serious enough nature for infirmary care. So far this year the infirmary has had comparatively few cases. Only one contagious disease has been reported, that being mumps. The majority of the patients have been suffering from grippe, colds, jaundice and illnesses of short duration, and have been discharged within a few days.

Probe Tragedy Which Killed 8 Children

Above, officials and grief-stricken residents viewing scene of accident at Rootstown crossing. Artist has indicated how engine came around curve at left and plowed into bus, bound across the tracks, as indicated by dotted line. Lower photo shows the coroner's inquest in session. Engineer F. G. McCaslin of the train is testifying in the foreground. Around the table, left to right, are R. B. Mong and T. H. Burke, inspectors for the state public utilities commission, and Coroner R. D. Worden. Inset, Margaret Herrick, who waited for the bus as it started across the track and who saw the accident.

The coroner's verdict as to the cause of the tragedy at Rootstown grade crossing, near Ravenna, O., which snuffed out the lives of eight school children and injured three others, will not be known until the driver of the school bus, injured in the wreck, is able to testify. In the meantime inspectors for the state public utilities commission who investigated the wreck and conditions at the crossing intimate that they will report the crossing as dangerous and suggest elimination of such types of crossings. The bus was struck by a fast Pennsylvania train as the horse-drawn vehicle was on its way to a central school with its morning load of children. Three of the dead belonged in one family. Another mother saw four of her children climb into the bus, to find one of them dead a few minutes later, another injured and two unable to tell how they escaped. The bus usually crossed at train time and had had narrow escapes.

Haresfoot Club Holds Free Dancing Classes

Prospective chorus ladies and male sheiks for the Haresfoot club show to be given next spring will receive their first work-out this afternoon at 4:00 o'clock in Lathrop hall when the club will inaugurate the first dancing class in its history.

The Haresfoot dancing class will be under the direction of Carl Vonnegut '24 and will meet every Tuesday and Thursday afternoon in Lathrop hall.

According to Haresfoot directors, these dancing classes will be held for all men in school, freshmen included, and are more for the purpose of dance training than for any sort of tryout for production. It is expected, however, that those men who engage in the classes will have made a proficiency in dancing which will place them in the fore when tryouts are held.

Faculty Pianist Will Play Here Tonight

The first faculty recital of the year will be given at 8:15 o'clock tonight in Music hall with Leland A. Coon, pianist and teacher of piano and technique at the university school of music, in recital.

The program will include many French compositions by the best of the French masters. Mr. Coon had remarkable success presenting the French masterpieces before audiences in Paris during his year of study in that city. He returned from Paris this summer to accept the position which he now holds in the School of Music.

"Do not forget to reserve a place in your programs for the French music which you interpret so well, and which in your hands does honor to such masters as Chabrier, Faure, DeBussy, and Ravel," Robert Casadesus, famous French pianist and teacher, wrote to Mr. Coon after his return to the United States.

Students and people of Madison who love music will have opportunity to hear Mr. Coon play several of the French songs in his recital tonight.

The program is as follows:

1. Prelude and Fugue in A Minor, Bach-Liszt; 2. Etudes Symphoniques, Schumann; 3. Polonaise in E Flat Major, Chopin. 4. Clair de Lune, DeBussy; 5. Impromptu in F. Minor, Faure; 6. Bource Fantasque, Chabrier.

Mrs. Schaude To Lay Blame On Man, Report

JANESVILLE, Wis.—The Gazette prints the statement today that Mrs. Myrtle Schaude, who, it is said, has made a confession of poisoning her husband and attempted poisoning of her four children, will not plead guilty when she is given a preliminary hearing Oct. 27. She will make a fight for her freedom, laying all the blame for mixing the poison and placing it where her husband could drink it, to Ernest Kufahl, held in Elkhorn jail as an accessory.

School Board Takes Up Platoon System

The platoon system for schools may be discussed by the board of education at its regular meeting tonight. An outline of the system was scheduled for the last meeting two weeks ago but the large amount of business before the board prevented T. W. Gosling, superintendent of schools, from being heard. A special meeting of the board may be called to discuss the matter. The system consists in part of double use of rooms by pupils which tends to increase the floor space within a building.

Many Students Play At Black Hawk Course

Many students are taking advantage this fall of the opportunity offered by the Black Hawk Country Club to play golf by paying $1 for a green ticket, which permits them to play on the golf course any day except Saturday afternoon and all day Sunday. The tickets may be bought at the Co-Op, Petrie's Sporting Goods Shop, or at the office of the Country Club.

"The tickets are not so much in demand in the fall as in the spring, probably on account of the cool weather," said Mr. D. H. Keller of the Sporting Goods Shop.

Students Hold Most Dance Jobs In Madison

University students have almost a monopoly on rag-time production in Madison. Of the 255 dance orchestra musicians in the city, 200 are university men, helping to pay their way through the university by commercializing their musical talent. The average player receives from $5 to $10 for every evening he plays.

Many student musicians organize small orchestras of their own and play at summer resorts during the summer months. Some play in other countries, in Europe and the Orient, where American college jazz bands are almost as popular as they are here.

The Alumni Council is composed of one delegate from each of the classes which have graduated from the university and one from each of the local alumni club, with ten from the membership of the association at large.

Morphy Sends Invite To Minnesota Band

Major E. W. Morphy, director of the university bands, has extended an urgent invitation to Mitchell Jalma, director of the University of Minnesota bands, to bring his band to Madison when Minnesota plays Wisconsin here Homecoming day. Detailed plans for the music of the day are being worked out.

"There is an unusually fine spirit of courtesy between the bands of the Big Ten conference," said Major Morphy yesterday.

"It is the practice of our band to turn over the visiting band the major portion of the time between halves at the games, since the visiting band is in the city for only a short time and our own band can be heard frequently throughout the year," Major Morphy continued.

Two Former U. W. Men Write Textbook for Y

Tickets For Chicago Game Sell Rapidly

At a quarter past five Monday evening 1084 applications had been made at the Gymnasium for tickets to the Chicago game.

From the time the line started at nine o'clock Monday until the gymnasium office closed for the evening a steady stream of students filed past the grilled window.

Wisconsin is allotted 10,000 tickets by the Chicago athletic department. The majority of these will be taken by alumni and former students. The alumni has the first chance at tickets. They were mailed applications on August 20 and had until September 20 to get them in. It is not yet known how many alumni applied.

There will be no mail application for students for Chicago game tickets. No time limit has as yet been set for applying at the gymnasium office, but at the gate applications came in Monday it appears that tickets will soon be gone.

ward. The building, of Gothic design, is of cream colored Colfax stone with Bedford stone trimmings. The auditorium seats 1,800 people. The altar, of carved stone, is 16 feet wide by 35 high. In the center of the facade of tracery and carving, in a niche directly above the altar slab, is a carved figure of Christ with hands outstretched. To the right and left of the altar is a series of arches in which hang richly colored tapestries, while above and back of it, diffusing a subdued light, is a handsome art glass window by Gaytee, one of America's great art glass designers. Another feature is the organ of over 3,000 pipes. This will be dedicated at the consecration service.

The completion of the structure marks the realization of the work of a small band of residents and university students, who in the spring of 1906 met in a room above Keeley's "Palace of Sweets" and resolved to found the first English Lutheran church in Madison, which became also the first Protestant church at the university. A campaign was launched for funds for the erection of the chapel, now soon to be vacated. In 1915 their purpose was accomplished, but in 1920 the congregation was again faced with the problem of adequate accommodations. Friends and members of the church troughout Wisconsin and the entire northwest have contributed of their efforts and means, so that the new church is fittingly styled the Lutheran cathedral of the northwest. It easily is the most beautiful church in the capital city, and its total cost approximates $400,000.

Secrets of Life Lie Behind Eyes of Fallen in Court

Daily Story of Tragedy Revealed In Lines Awaiting Judge

By WILLIAM DAWSON

If a novelist had at his command the life stories that lie curtained behind the eyes of those who daily line the benches in the waiting room of Judge O. A. Stolen's chambers, he would never have to draw on his imagination for plot, incident, character, romance or crime.

Trailing to the third floor of the court house, they come to the office of Edward J. Walden, senior superior court clerk, to wait their turn to see the judge. They include men, women, children, persons of all ages and conditions of life. They sit quiet-faced on the long bench, or weep silently.

Walden can tell why they are there at a glance. Years of experience have given Walden a way of reading their troubles.

It is their eyes that give them away, Walden says.

Eyes. Some are bright. Some are dim or misty. Cringing eyes, questioning, dreaming, exulting, shallow and selfish, deep and generous. In those eyes may be found the secrets of life.

State Can Test Herd Without Area Petition

Officials of the state department of agriculture are empowered by the statutes to test herds of cattle for bovine tuberculosis without a previous application for an area test and if infected animals are found they may be disposed of in the regular way, the attorney general's department held today.

This decision was given when the agricultural department pointed to cimplaints from farmers who had their herds cleaned of tuberculosis only to have them infected again by animals from neighboring untested herds.

Engine House Building Begun by Sanitorium

$15,000 Structure Is First Of Many Improvements Being Planned

Construction of a new engine house equipped with modern oil burners has been begun at the Madison sanitarium. The estimated cost of the new structure is $15,000. Workmen are wrecking the old power plant and excavating for the new house.

The engine house will furnish heat for the main sanitarium, the nurses' home and the annex, besides housing the laundry equipment. It will be a two story structure.

Soon, according to Dr. R. R. Ingersoll, superintendent of the institution, it is hoped to have installed a 68 foot cement approach to the main building. At the present time, the drive is made of cinders.

The plan of the institution is to erect eventually a new fire proof plant built on the unit system. It is also hoped to have constructed a group of cottages in which patients may reside with their families.

Prof. R. B. Anderson Continues to Bring Honor to Madison

By MISS MARY BURDICK

The Christian Science Monitor recently published a picture of Prof. Rasmus B. Anderson of this city in connection with the account of the Lief Ericson celebration.

No American has paid more honor, or brought more to his ancestors' Scandinavian home than has Prof. Anderson who, fairly vigorous and thoroughly alert, with the interest of t housand memories and rich experience, still wields a facile and accurate pen and occasionally delights his friends with varied tales, ranging in subject from the early days of Norwegians as discoverers of a new country, to the pioneer life in Wisconsin and the struggle of their sons for advanced education.

The history of the rise of Albion academy is well known, to the one, who as student and instructor, frequented her halls, exchanging them later for those of our university, and still later for those of royalty, where as our minister to Denmark, he was often a guest.

Speaking not long ago of the wedding of a young prince in Copenhagen at a time when Europe was unshaken by wars and crowns were not in peril, Prof. Anderson said:

"Young, vigorous and rich, with the royal families of the world represented in his wedding festivities as a pageant, he seems at the highest peak. What will the future hold for him?

"Today the prince pushes a vegetable cart around Paris."

In 1925, the centennial of Scandinavian emigration will be observed. May Madison's author, translator, editor, ex-minister and good citizen go forth from his home and, figuratively speaking, march in the process on whose cause he has served so long.

He Controls State

Legislature Would Be Without Power In War With Governor

Should Wisconsin face the same situation as arose in Oklahoma recently, the legislature would be powerless to take action as the state constitution does not provide any other method of assembling for the legislature between regular sessions than at the call of the governor.

The constitution provides that the legislature may fix the time for its biennial sessions, but special sessions may be convened only on the call of he executive, and then must limit itself to the purposes for which it is convened.

While Oklahoma amended its constitution in a special referendum election; Wisconsin could take no such step as no referendum can be held except on questions submitted to the people by the legislature.

Under the Wisconsin constitution, the executive is practically free from attacks from the legislature between sessions, although the exact legal rights of each never has been determined.

Badger State One Of First 3 In Health

Wisconsin, with Minnesota and Iowa, which have county nurse laws, and New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania, with mandatory medical school inspection laws, are credited in a bulletin of the United States department of the interior with scoring highest in the extent and effectiveness of health supervision given to rural areas.

The conclusions are quoted in a bulletin on "Educational Hygiene," by Willard S. Small, dean of the college of education, University of Maryland.

Wisconsin's law, passed in 1913, makes employment of a county nurse mandatory upon counties. Full examinations of children are required.

Road To Pay Fire Damages At Muscoda

MUSCODA, Wis.—A suit brought against the Milwaukee road for damage to property and person was settled out of court. The plaintiffs, J. J. Heffner and Frank Fagan, jr., claimed damage to property by fire caused by sparks from passing locomotives. A prairie fire was started and before Mr. Eagan and his children could escape they were seriously burned. The carrier will pay $3,500.

The building value record of 1922 will be exceeded by more than $2,000,000 this year, according to an estimate in the Association of Commerce Bulletin, released today.

Building permits last year called for expenditure of $4,585,00. The aggregate this year will be $6,600,000, it is estimated.

A total of 563 dwelling units had been built Oct. 1, and the total for the year is expected to be 750. Seven hundred dwellings were built during last year, 492 of them before Oct. 1.

Better Than Calomel

Thousands Have Discovered Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a Harmless Substitute

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the substitute for calomel—are a mild but sure laxative, and their effect on the liver is almost instantaneous. These little olive colored tablets are the result of Dr. Edwards' determination not to treat liver and bowel complaints with calomel.

The pleasant little tablets do the good that calomel does, but have no bad after effects. They don't injure the teeth like strong liquids or calomel. They take hold of the trouble and quickly correct it. Why cure the liver at the expense of the teeth? Calomel sometimes plays havoc with the gums. So do strong liquids. It is best not to take calomel. Let Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets take its place.

Headaches, "dullness" and that lazy feeling come from constipation and a disordered liver. Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets when you feel "logy" and "heavy." They "clear" clouded brain and "perk up" the spirits. 15c and 30c.—Adv.

Wisconsin Honey Week To Be Launched Nov. 19

Preliminary plans are well under way for Wisconsin's "Honey Week" to be staged Nov. 19 to 25.

Wisconsin may well be termed the "land of milk and honey" for besides being a leader in the production of milk her bee products present an impressive sum. Honey producers in the state number 12,000. They maintain approximately 125,000 colonies of bees, whose annual production mounts beyond the 6,000,000 pound mark. The yearly output of beeswax alone returns $25,000.

Warren Oakey Will Wed in Washington

Madison Man Engaged To Cornelia Stuard, Announcement

By ROWENA BROWN.

An interesting engagement announcement has just been received from Washington, D. C., which has enough local connection to make it significant to Madison society.

Young Warren Oakey received his degree from the university in 1917, from the college of engineering, and left the parental home at 27 N. Blair st. almost immediately for the battlefields of France, returning, when the armistice was signed, to continue his studies and to practice his profession in Washington, D. C. During his residence there he met Miss Cornelia Stuard, daughter of Mrs. William Hilton Stuard, and member of a well known family that has long held its position in the capital city.

This summer Mr. Oakey spent in Europe, as an engineer in the United States geological survey, in which capacity he is now located in Washington. On his return trip he could be stopped for a week or two days with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William J. Oakey, N. Lake st., with the result that they carried east with him to Washington, leaving early last week.

Now that they have arrived in the capital, word comes that "Mrs. Stuard announces the engagement and approaching marriage of her daughter, Cornelia, to Warren Oakey, etc." The wedding date has been placed in the very near future.

Mrs. M. E. Brand and daughter, Mrs. Bessie Cartwright and her children, Martha and Tom, 922 Lake court, were in Milwaukee last week to attend the birthday celebration of Mrs. Brand's son, Carl Brand, cartoonist with the Milwaukee Sentinel. A family dinner was served in the evening and during the family for an informal social time were Mr. and Mrs. Downing Reigle and daughters, Miss Dorothy and Miss Virginia, formerly Mr. and Mrs. Reigle were of this city. Carl Brand, Jr., who is also present at his father's birthday celebration, is specializing as a cartoonist also while doing commercial work in Milwaukee.

CATHOLIC LITERATURE DEPARTMENT

At the Monday afternoon meeting of the literature department of the Catholic Woman's club, the various phases of "Catholic Authorship" were discussed. The discussion of the subject was divided into three parts.

Mrs. Wandrey, chairman, introduced Mrs. L. C. Fleury who discussed the "Catholic Church as a Truth-seeker." "Too many people have been misinformed concerning the principles of the Catholic church," said Mrs. Fleury, "and it is our duty to bring the truths of the church to their notice." Mrs. Fleury read excerpts from "The Truth Seeker," by Rev. A. P. Doyle. "The Catholic church is everywhere the same in her teachings," writes Rev. Doyle. "During the 1900 years of her existence she has undergone many external changes, but her fundamental doctrines have remained unchanged. She is the great guiding influence which broods over her children in infancy and prepares them for her own teachings. Hence a world [illegible]."

Mrs. E. B. Cory continued the discussion on "Catholic doctrine on the right of government." She quoted Rt. Rev. John Ryan as her authority in the matter. "No formal declaration of government has come from the church," said Mrs. Cory. "The figure back comes from St. Paul's Epistle to the Romans. Each says: He who resists the power of government, resists the [illegible] Rev. Ryan says, 'All authority comes from God.' Mrs. Cory said that those who say, 'Religion has nothing to do with politics,' are wrong in writing the [illegible] Independence took place in government from the [illegible] church priests."

Mrs. Cory said, "Not only political [illegible] government [illegible] three [illegible] right [illegible] and [illegible] right [illegible] and [illegible] right [illegible] and [illegible] right evidence [illegible]."

The last speaker of the program was to have given an [illegible] history of Catholicism was unable to appear. In her absence Miss Mary McGovern spoke for a few minutes on the "Value of a Conversational Understanding of the Bible." The literature department is conducting a review of four books, of Matthew, Mark, Luke, and John. In the next meeting this discussion will take up the first part of the book of Mark.

CHURCH BAZAAR

Dainty Gloves and Slippers for Milady

To the woman of taste and discrimination nothing about her wardrobe is of more importance than her gloves and shoes. Poor taste or shoddiness displayed in either case brands one as below the standard refinement no matter how smart and harmonious the rest of the costume may be.

One cannot have too many gloves. The war made practically prohibitive the price of kid gloves for the woman with the average pocketbook for a time, and the price does not decline to the pre-war standard even now. However, it flooded the market with fabric gloves which are a boon to the business woman at any rate, for they can be washed and are moderately priced.

At the top of the illustration are two pairs of kid gloves from Paris. It seems no matter whether a medium length glove is of kid or fabric it must have a gauntlet. The pair on the left is of white kid. A turnback cuff of black silk, embroidered, contains a pocket in which may be slipped the very smart black crepe de chine handkerchief pictured.

At the left is a handsome pair of gauntlets in a very soft ecrue trimmed in brown with cuffs of brown silk. The cuffs are elaborately embroidered in colors.

Shoes of all colors have been shown all season. Soft suedes in all the shades of brown are very popular just now holding the popular favor with black patent leather. For evening wear the gold and silver slippers shown here are favorites.

High boots seem to have literally "had their day and ceased to be." A few folks with weak ankles are forced to wear them but in the shop windows they are "conspicuous by their absence."

Mary James Is Married to Theodore Stark

Richland Center Home Is Scene of Ceremony Uniting U. W. Couple

The marriage of Mary James, a University graduate last June and popular member of Delta Delta Delta sorority and a leader in journalistic activities, to Theodore "Ted" Stark, a member of Phi Kappa Sigma fraternity, and who received his degree from the university in 1922, occurred last night.

The formal wedding was held last evening at 8 o'clock at the home of Mr. and Mrs. D. E. James, in Richland Center. The home was colorful with baskets of autumn leaves and chrysanthemums, and the greater part of the guests attended in formal garb.

The bride, who is an exquisite blonde, wore a gown of brocaded kitten's ear satin, fashioned with a long court train. The veil was held in place by a diadem of brilliants and pearls. Her shower bouquet was of bridal roses and lillies of the valley. Mrs. Herbert Brockhausen, as matron of honor, was was gowned in green georgette crepe and carried red rose buds. The Misses Adeline and Beulah James, sister of the bride wore formal gowns of gold cloth and blue georgette. Mrs. James, the bride's mother, wore a formal gown of black sequins. Mr. Brockhausen, who is also a fraternity brother of the groom, attended the duties of best man. Little Marian Kelly, in a frock of white crepe, carried the rings for the ceremony.

Following a honeymoon in Canada, the young people will make their home at Minneapolis, where Mr. Stark is established with a bond firm. Famous Old Recipe for Cough Syrup

Easily and cheaply made at home, but it beats them all for quick results.

Thousands of housewives have found that they can save two-thirds of the money usually spent for cough preparations, by using this well-known old recipe for making cough syrup. It is simple and cheap but it has no equal for prompt results. It takes right hold of a cough and gives immediate relief, usually stopping an ordinary cough in 24 hours or less.

Get 2½ ounces of Pinex from any druggist, pour it into a pint bottle, and add plain granulated sugar syrup to make a full pint. If you prefer, use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup. Either way, it tastes good, keeps perfectly, and lasts a family a long time.

It's truly astonishing how quickly it acts, penetrating through every air passage of the throat and lungs—loosens and raises the phlegm, soothes and heals the membranes, and gradually but surely the annoying throat tickle and dreaded cough disappear entirely. Nothing better for bronchitis, spasmodic croup, hoarseness or bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a special and highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract known the world over for its healing effect on membranes.

Avoid disappointment by asking your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with full directions and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

Has Sweet and Serious Face in Mother Roles

But Mary Now Jumps Into Comedy Part and Smiles

One always associates roles of devotion entailing self sacrifice with Mary Alden. She has a sweet and serious face. One thinks of the mother in "The Old Nest" and similar roles.

In a recent Metro picture, "the Eagle's Feather" adapted from a story by Katherine Newlin Burt she has the leading feminine part. "Pleasure Mad" is another Metro picture just finishing in which Miss Alden appears.

The very latest news about her is that she is to take a part as a lady's maid in "The Living Past," which Metro is just starting to film and which gives her an opportunity (long desired) to prove her ability as a comedienne. Our next picture of her may be a smiling one.

Mary Alden.

JACKIE'S NEXT—

Jackie Coogan has finished the Mary Roberts Rinehart story, "Long Live the King," and announces as his next Metro production, "A Boy of Flanders." This is an adaption of Ouida's famous story, "A Dog of Flanders."

MABEL FORREST AS "THE SATIN GIRL"—

Sliding panels! Trap Doors! Mystery galore! That's "The Satin Girl." Mabel Forrest's first starring vehicle. Norman Kerry plays a young criminologist-physician who helps solve the mystery and marries the girl.

"THE VIRGINIAN" CAST—

Kenneth Harlan, playing the title role in "The Virginian" is to play the leading male role in "The White Man" soon to be screened. Florence Vidor, the "Molly Wood" of the "Virginian" is to be Barbara in "The Winning of Barbara Worth." Pat O'Malley the "Steve" of the Owen Wister story will play opposite Mary Philbin in "My Mamie Rose." and Sam Allen, "Uncle Hughey" has the leading role in "Lightnin' " and will play the part on the stage. Evidently they scored a hit in this picture.

Miss Speckled Hardshell, the gifted hen who contributes to the fun in several scenes of the Preferred Picture, "The Virginian," has been added to the permanent playing staff of the Schulberg Studios. Miss Hardshell is so thrilled at the prospect of a screen career that she has abandoned the plebian task of egg laying for the more actor-like pastime of cackling.

"SPANISH DANCER" WINS HIGH PLACE

Some two years ago word was given out in film circles that "Don Ceaser de Bazan" would be adapted to the screen and used as a starring vehicle for Rudolph Valentino. Then Valentino left the Paramount organization and it was rumored that Antonio Moreno would be starred in the play. About a year ago the plans were changed and it was decided that the part of the Gypsy girl would be built up so that the play would be suitable as a vehicle for Pola Negri. "Don Ceaser de Bazan" is well known as a novel, and was the basis of a play. It later appeared on the speaking stage under the name of "The Royal Lover." Many ambitious productions are still to be completed for fall and winter showing some of them remarkably good. However good they may be, they will not crowd "The Spanish Dancer" from its high place. "The Spanish Dancer" is now showing at the Madison.

BESSIE LOVE TELLS WHY SHE ACCEPTED ROLE

"It was a real education to play a prt in "Human Wreckage," said Bessie Love, who is seen in what has been agreed to be the greatest role of her eventful moving picture career. "First I wanted to refuse the role. I looked with disgust on the type I was cast for. Then after a talk with Mrs. Wallace Reid the full meaning of her altruistic motives that lay behind it and the potential good to humanity in a picturization of this hideous habit, dawned upon me and I accepted. To fully prepare myself to play the role, I availed myself of the offer of a physician who secured for me, entry to the narcotic ward of a city jail in Los Angeles in the guise of a nurse. Here I found girls in the early stages of addiction who realizing their danger and braving moral criticism, had applied for treatment. Their frankness as to the details of their affliction was appaling, but plain facts must be faced and I resolved that I would do all in my power to stamp out the terrible curse.

Miss Love is scoring her greatest hit as the little addict mother in "Human Wreckage," supporting Mrs. Wallace Reid, James Kirkwood Victory Bateman, Claire McDowell,

Bessie Love in "Human Wreckage."

George Hackathorne, Harry Northrup and a host of others.

The "Seven Queens of Syncopation" is a jazzy musical revue different from the usual run of musical acts. In honor of the co-operation given Mrs. Reid by the various Elks lodges tonight has been designated as "Elks Night" at the Majestic.

FASHION SHOW MARKS "TEA WITH A KICK"

A fashion show on the screen, combined with a clever dancing act and extravaganza is one of the features of "Tea—With a Kick!" now showing at the Strand theater. This sequence of scenes has been worked out in elaborate detail with lavish settings and display as a background for ten prize beauties, winners of beauty contests throughout the country, and a ballet of one hundred dancers in the "Golden Gown Revue." The gowns displayed in the fashion show were imported from Paris.

The special added features are movies of the annual class rush, latest round of H. C. Witwer's "Fighting Blood," and latest Fox News.

Baritone to Sing in City on Thursday

Werrenrath Has Great Artistry, Says Prof. E. E. Swinney

"Reinald Werrenrath is an artist who can delight you, with anything he choses to sing, for back of the song is the beautiful voice and the great artistry of the man—a singer and musician who is sincere in his art," said E. E. Swinney, instructor in voice of the school of music, about the brilliant young baritone who will sing here Thursday evening, in the first concert of the Union board series.

In his concert in Madison last year this singer held his audience interested throughout the concert by the force of his attractive personality as well as by the beauty of his voice. Students who heard him then will not miss the opportunity to hear him when he returns to the city this year.

"We have chosen Werrenrath for the first concert of our 1923-4 series because of his personality and his ability. He is the kind of man students like, versatile, young and interesting," said John C. Dawson, '24, president of Union Board.

DOUBLE FEATURE IS PARKWAY ATTRACTION

"The Spoilers" is the feature picture now showing at the Parkway. It is not a re-issue nor an old picture but a brand new one just produced and released by Goldwyn-Cosmopolitan Pictures Co. It is Rex Beach's most famous story, a virile tale of the Alaska gold fields. The feature act attraction is Vera Sabina, noted European dancer, assisted by Maurice Leo and the original Blue and White Marimba band. The musical and dancing program which is given is a delight. Then there is "The Limit," a funny Cameo comedy, the Parkway Scrapbook, the Parkway Concert orchestra of 12 pieces, and Irene T. Dunk on the mammoth Kimball organ.

Seats are now selling for "Up the Ladder," Friday and Saturday nights with a Saturday matinee. "Up the Ladder" is the farce comedy which took Chicago by storm and the play will be enacted here by the original Chicago cast.

Starting next Sunday the feature picture will be "The Green Goddess" starring George Arliss, Alice Joyce and Harry T. Morey.

The healthy look that DR. CALDWELL'S SYRUP PEPSIN Gives is Natures Own

Ladies! This Beats Cosmetics

GOOD health cannot be camouflaged by powder and rouge. The eyes will tell. That sparkle and clearness that denote good health will not be there if you are constipated. Mrs. Clara Proctor of Pottersville, Mich., had been told by doctors she had this and that disease, and one advised an operation, but she knew she had been constipated all her life so first tried Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. She avoided the operation and now feels better than she ever did. Likewise Mrs. William Appleton of Eddington, Pa., who was badly constipated and now looks her best again after using Syrup Pepsin.

On Sale for 30 Years

Intelligent women are realizing that health and mere outward complexion are two different things, and more and more are taking Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. Over 10 million bottles were bought in drug stores last year, the largest selling liquid laxative in the world! Go to your druggist and buy a bottle. The cost is less than a cent a dose. Take a spoonful at bed-time and see how much better you feel in the morning. It is a vegetable compound of Egyptian senna and pepsin with agreeable aromatics, and entirely safe not only for you but for the youngest child. Keep a bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin constantly in the home for you or some other member of the family may need it any moment to relieve constipation, to break up fevers and colds, to clear up biliousness, indigestion, a pimple, a fever sore and other disturbances that show constipation.

A Great Tribute to the Voice and Art of
Anna Case
All Star Concert Series Artist
by the famous critic W. J. Henderson, of the New York Herald, after her New York recital December last:
"It must be one of the most delightful things in the world to be Miss Anna Case. A beautiful woman with a beautiful voice, a gracious manner and an unusually good technical and artistic equipment ought to experience every day something of the joy of living. Certainly Miss Case should be happy when she is singing old Italian airs and a bit of Handel, for artists who can do it as well as she can are very, very scarce. And there is something, too, to be said for a singer who unearths airs by the forgotten Franciscan monk Fasolo and the still less known Neapolitan Falconieri. Miss Case's vocal technic is a joy. It is extraordinarily good. She has a tone production which ravishes the ear of the connoisseur. She rarely displaces her tone and her point d'appui, as the French name it, is almost always the same. The result is homogeneity and smoothness and loveliness. Her breath support is admirable, and her style is rich in elegance and manifestations of good taste."

TODAY I AM REAL WELL

So Writes Woman After Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Jamestown, N.Y.—"I was nervous, easily excited and discouraged and had no ambition. Part of the time I was not able to sit up as I suffered with pains in my back and with weakness. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, both the liquid and tablet forms, and used Lydia E. Pinkham's Sanative Wash for inflammation. Today I am real well and run a rooming house and do the work. I recommend your medicine to every woman who complains, and you may use my letter to help any one else. I am passing through the Change of Life now and I keep the Vegetable Compound in the house, ready to take when I feel the need of it."—Mrs. ALICE D. DAVIS, 203 W. Second St., Jamestown, N. Y.

Often some slight derangement may cause a general upset condition of the whole system indicated by such symptoms as nervousness, backache, lack of ambition and general weakness. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will be found a splendid medicine for such troubles. In many cases it has removed the cause of the trouble.

Fifth Music Memory Contest

(Conducted under the Auspices of the Madison Community Music Committee)

A movement to increase the knowledge and love of good music by learning to recognize from hearing certain of the best musical compositions. Four are assigned to each of eight weeks. They are divided into three groups, and each listener may decide which group he will endeavor to compete in. Group A consists of twelve simple selections. Group B of these twelve and twelve somewhat more difficult ones, and Group C of the twenty-four preceding and eight additional advanced selections. At the end of the period, a contest is held in which parts of the compositions are played, and the listeners attempt to write down the titles and composers. This year in evaluating the papers, no additional mark will be given for correct spelling.

Class A, selection No. 6—Minuet from "Orpheus and Eurydice" by Christoph Willibald von Gluck (born in Weidenwang near the Bohemian border 1714; died in Vienna 1787).

Changing Styles

There is nothing in the world more changeable than style. Old fashioned usually means queer. But when something of deep importance and of genuine sincerity has been expressed, its appeal is seldom completely lost. Great music suffers little by the flight of time. Although our selection for today is from the oldest opera which is still performed, it stands up well in comparison with music of a later date, and it always pleases with its beauty and depth of feeling.

Gluck is one of the most widely traveled of composers. This is the more surprising, considering the difficulties of travel in his day. His first music lessons he had in Bohemia; in 1732 he was in Prague; in 1736 to went to Vienna; his first operas were composed in Milan, 1741-44; his first failure was in London, 1745-46; this led, however, not to discouragement but to self-criticism and renewed study, after which he returned to Vienna, 1744-61. But his lasting work was done in Paris for the opera there, beginning with the first version of Orpheus and Eurydice in 1762.

Peaceful Happiness

This minuet is played in the opera during the scene in which the audience is permitted to glimpse into the life of the realm of departed happy spirits. In the midst of beautiful flowers suffused with soft light, these graceful Grecian figures move in slow rhythm while the music is being played. The exact form of the old dance is not followed, but its leisurely rhythm and graceful melody is utilized by Guck because it so well accords with the old Grecian conception of complete bliss which is attained by those whose life on earth has been blameless. There are but two themes in the whole minuet. The first one is heard twice, then there is a contrasting theme, and the first one returns again.

Services Opened

First Sunday Night Meeting Held At East Side Tabernacle

The East Side Tabernacle, Seventh street and East Washington avenue, held the first of a series of Sunday evening services last night. Howard Piper, the Sunday school superintendent, introduced the Rev. George Brown as the speaker. Prayer was offered by I. S. Caldwell, a returned missionary from Africa, and the male quartette of the Luther Memorial church, led by Dr. W. L. Gilette, gave two selections.

Mrs. Howard Piper played the piano. Br. Brown spoke on "Paul's Boast of the Gospel," and said that while education, civilization, and the teachings of science had failed in the work of the redemption and transformation of human character, the gospel had always succeeded where it had been given a fair opportunity. Services are to be held every Sunday evening.

Fountain Pen Filling Station Now at Libe

A new feature has appeared at the library. It is a penny-in-the-slot fountain pen filling station. It is being tried out at the library with the possibility of having a number installed at various places on the campus, as a convenience to students whose pens run dry at a critical moment.

The contrivance is on a window shelf back of the university desk. By dropping a penny in the slot and turning a knob one revolution to the right, enough ink is deposited in a small well in the front of the machine to fill an ordinary pen. Extra large pens need two fillings of the well. A small well is also provided into which one may empty the old ink from the pen.

The machine was developed by graduate students at the University of Chicago.

Police Station Harbor City's Most Used Chair

The most used chair in Madison. Where is it? In a barber shop? In an editor's sanctum? In a pool hall? No—in the police station.

Battle-scarred, leg-weary, big-armed, straight-backed, the most used and abused chair in the city stands before the sergeant's desk at police headquarters and does 24 hours of service a day, day after day, year upon year, never giving a complaining squeak or high-pitched threat of rebellion.

It would be hard to say when this chair's duty begins, because it never ends. At 7:30 in the morning Sergt. Leo Kinney comes on the job and the chair begins to work. At noon while Kinney goes to lunch Detective Robert Putnam holds it down. At 4 o'clock in the afternoon Sergt. Truman Grinnell goes on duty and the chair is his until midnight when he surrenders it to Sergt. Henry Timm.

Halting Of Medical Advance In Germany Affects U. S., Sharp Says

MILWAUKEE — Thousands in America will die because medical research in Germany has been stopped, Prof. F. C. Sharp, of the University of Wisconsin, psychology department, declared in his first lecture of a university extension course on political ethics and problems of international morality at the public library lecture hall.

"The world is a unit," he said. The immense changes in Europe are bound to influence America. Thirty per cent of the advance in medical research is due to Germany. Conditions in Germany prevent medical discoveries."

CHILD'S STORY OF THE HUMAN RACE

By Ramon Coffman "Uncle Ray"

Chapter 155—Lady Wonderful Is Saved

THE JAPANESE god of the sea was named Susanoo. He was a wild and unruly fellow, but in one case he proved himself a hero.

On a certain day, says a legend, he was walking along the bank of a river. He thought there weren't any people living farther up the river. To his surprise he noticed a chop-stick floating down.

"Maybe there are people up yonder!" he exclaimed. "I'll go and look."

Sure enough, he discovered a man with a beard and an old woman. They were leaning over a lovely young woman, stroking her hair and patting her on the shoulders.

"Why do you have such sad faces?" asked the god.

"Oh, sir!" cried the old man. "This is my daughter, the only one I have left. Once I had eight of them, but seven have been swallowed by a terrible snake which comes every year for one more. Soon he will come to get this one, who is called Lady Wonderful."

Susanoo liked the looks of Lady Wonderful, and resolved that she should not be killed. He told the man to build a fence with eight gates, and at each gate to place a huge bowl of wine. While this was being done, the god gazed at the young woman. He seemed to be falling in love with her.

"Don't be afraid," he told her, "I shall do my best to save you. First, I must disguise you."

Using his power as a god, he turned her into a comb and placed it in his hair!

The serpent came. It was so large that it spread over eight hills and eight valleys. It had bloodshot eyes, and great jaws which seemed to yawn for Lady Wonderful.

The monster however, was fond of wine. It beheld the liquor and drank it off with a satisfied gurgle. Then it became sleepy.

Susanoo saw his chance. Rushing outside the fence, he slew the serpent with his long sword. After this was accomplished, he brought Lady Wonderful out of the comb, and they were married.

Uncle Wiggily's Bedtime Stories

By HOWARD GARIS

UNCLE WIGGILY POPS SOME CORN.

Copyright, 1923, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.

"Jack Frost will be around tonight, I think," said Uncle Wiggily to Nurse Jane one evening as the bunny rabbit gentleman hopped up the steps of his hollow stump bungalow. "It is getting quite cold."

"Yes, Jack Frost may be here," agreed the muskrat lady housekeeper. "I wish you'd help me bring in my pots of flowers. I don't want Jack to pinch them with his cold fingers."

"I'll help," offered Uncle Wiggily. So he carried in the geraniums and other posies and then, after supper, he said: "I think I'll build a fire on the hearth, Nurse Jane. It will be warm and cozy if any of our friends come to call."

"All right," Nurse Jane said.

"There is no danger of Jack Frost coming in where there's a fire," she added, with a laugh. "Jack likes to be cold."

So Uncle Wiggily piled some wood on the andirons and lighted the faggots. Soon a warm, crackling blaze was leaping and jumping up the chimney, as if eager to get outside and see how cold it was.

"The crackling of the fire reminds me of popping corn," said Nurse Jane, after a bit, as she sat near the hearth toasting her toes.

"Ha! Speaking of popping corn, that's what I'm going to do!" cried Uncle Wiggily, twinkling his pink nose.

Hanging near the chimney were some ears of popping corn, and on the same nail was the wire popper with its long handle.

"I'll get the salt and melted butter ready," offered Nurse Jane, as Uncle Wiggily began to shell the kernels of corn from the cob, dropping the kernels into the wire popper.

By this time the fire had died down into a mass of red, hot embers, just right for popping corn, and soon Uncle Wiggily was slowly shaking the popper to and fro, the kernels of corn skating around inside beneath the cover. For you must shake the popper, you know, when popping corn, else it will burn.

The fire glowed redder and hotter. Little cracks and crackles were heard in the shaking popper. And pretty soon there were loud pops like little toy soldiers shooting off little toy guns.

"It's popping fine!" cried Nurse Jane, and soon the popper was filled with the large white kernels, which were much larger than the little dried kernels Uncle Wiggily had shelled off the cobs.

When corn pops it bursts and swells out into white, funny shapes. And just as Uncle Wiggily emptied the first full popper into the dishpan, and while Nurse Jane was pouring the melted butter over it, the door of the hollow stump bungalow opened and in walked—

No, it wasn't any of the bad chaps. It was Uncle Butter, the goat.

"Ha! Welcome to our corn popping party, Uncle Butter!" cried Uncle Wiggily. "You are just in time."

"I'm glad of it," bleated the goat gentleman. "But have you enough corn for me? I am very fond of it."

"If we haven't enough I'll pop more," offered Uncle Wiggily, and

"It's popping fine!" cried Nurse Jane.

when the first popper full was eaten he popped another. Just as it was being poured into the dishpan the door opened and in walked—

No, it wasn't any of the bad chaps. It was Mr. Twistytail, the pig.

"Oh, ho! Glad to see you;" greeted Uncle Wiggily. "Welcome to our corn popping party. Help yourself!" and he pushed the dishpan full of corn to the pig gentleman.

"Are you sure you have enough?" asked Mr. Twistytail, the pig gentleman. "I am very fond of popped corn."

"If we haven't enough I'll pop more!" laughed Uncle Wiggily. And he was just putting more unpopped kernels of corn into the popper when the door opened and in walked——

Yes, this time it was one of the bad chaps—the Fuzzy Fox.

"Ah, ha!" grumbled the Fox. "Why don't you tell me I am welcome, Uncle Wiggily, as I heard you tell Mr. Twistytail and Uncle Butter while I was hiding outside? Why don't you invite me to have some corn?

"Why-ye-ye-es, I will!" stammered Uncle Wiggily. "I can't exactly say you are welcome, but I'd rather you'd eat the corn than nibble my ears. I'll pop some corn 'specially for you."

"All right!" growled the Fox. "First I'll eat the corn and then I'll nibble your ears!"

Uncle Wiggily twinkled his pink nose and into the popper he put an extra lot of the little hard kernels.

"When they pop they'll burst the cover off the popper and they'll fly out and maybe burn the Fox on the nose!" Whispered Uncle Wiggily to Nurse Jane.

Soon the corn began to pop. And there was so much of it and it filled the popper so full that the cover burst off and a stream of hot white popped kernels of corn shot toward the Fox. The hot corn struck the Fox on his soft and tender nose.

"Ouchie! Wowchie! Zow!" howled the bad chap. "I guess they don't want me here!" And out of the door he ran, not stopping to nibble ears. And then the others had a good time at the pop corn party.

Now if the rag doll doesn't try to slide down hill on the pin cushion and get slinters in her shoes, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and the paper boat.

TODAY'S RECIPES

Rice Griddle Cakes—Beat one or two eggs until light. Mix with one cup cold cooked rice. Add one teaspoon sugar, one-half teaspoon salt, one cup milk, one cup flour with two teaspoons baking powder sifted in it. More milk may be added to make a batter as thick as the usual griddle cake batter.

Macaroni and Cheese — Cook macaroni in salted water until tender. Melt one tablespoon of butter in saucepan, add one tablespoon flour and gradually add one cup milk. When hot and smooth add one cup grated or finely cut cheese. Stir until cheese is melted, season with pepper and salt, pour over macaroni. Put all into buttered baking dish, spread bread crumbs and grated cheese on top and bake fifteen or twenty minutes in hot oven.

HALLOWE'EN PARTIES

Fancy dress parties with everyone masqued are always interesting and especially so for hallowe'en. Putty may be used to change the shape of the nose and teeth may be "knocked out" by the simple process of cutting black court plaster the right size and covering any desired tooth with it. Crepe paper can be obtained in all colors and at slight expense and can be used with any pattern made for cloth. Special patterns for crepe paper costumes can also be obtained with full directions and suggestions for color combinations.

The good old-fashioned "ghost party" is always fun. The hostess asks each guest to bring a sheet and pillow case. She furnishes the masks so that all will be alike. Plain cotton goods with eye and nose holes cut in it are best. The hostess helps each guest to don this regalia and gives him a stout cord for a belt.

Ducking For Apples — Some of the old fortune telling games are always in demand at a hallowe'en entertainment. Ducking for apples is one of the best known and most typical of these. Use an old-fashioned wooden tub. Place a dime in one apple, a ring in another and a button in a third. These denote, of course, money, marriage, and single blessedness. Players try to get an apple in their mouths without using their hands.

Hallowe'en Anagrams—Give the guests pencil and paper and ask them to make as many words as possible using combinations of the letters in the word "Hallowe'en," beginning with H, then A, and so on as the hostess calls them. Examples: how, hen, low, lean, etc. About five minutes should be allowed for each letter.

Mrs. Thompson's Advice.

HUSBAND JEALOUS; SHE IS TOO POPULAR

Wife Married 13 Years Complains of Mate's Abuse and Bad Habits

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a married woman of thirty-five and have been married thirteen years. I am considered rather good-looking and am a favorite with my friends, both old and young. My husband is jealous because I am popular.

We have three bright little boys whom he does not regard with interest at all. He always wants them out of his way and is never kind to them.

I am a hard-working woman and try to save, but he is the other way. He goes with young fellows and drinks, plays pool, runs with other women and spends his wages on them. He hardly has any money for home except fifty cents a week which he allows me.

I have done everything I can to make home happy. I am not a flashy dresser like other women, as I do not care for half-clad styles.

I was raised to respect my parents and they taught me that half-clad people were immoral.

My husband comes home night after night full of high life and curses and abuses the whole family. He never stays home; even on Sunday he is gone. He hasn't spent three dozen nights at home in the last three years.

The neighbors say it is a shame the way he carries on and say they would leave him. He is a very poor example for the boys. He encourages the boys not to mind me and it makes it awfully hard for me.

I am growing nervous under the strain of constant trouble. Your advice will be greatly appreciated.

ANXIOUS WIFE

Your husband is not a help to you in any way that I can see unless he helps you to pay rent and provide a home for the boys. If, however, you earn the money for the support of yourself and the children I would not advise you to tolerate him in the home a minute. Of course his example to the boys is bad and they would be much better off away from him. Sometimes, however, a woman is so handicapped because she cannot earn a livelihood for herself and children that she finds it necessary to remain with her husband until the children are able to help earn.

If circumstance makes it possible for you to free yourself from your husband I would certainly advise you to do so. It is a terrible thing for you to have to live with such a man and it is no wonder you are growing nervous under the strain. Consult an attorney and see if he thinks your husband can be made to help with the support of the children after separation. Only too often a man is told by law to pay but he manages to move away and dodge his responsibility in some way.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: We are two girl friends 16 and 17. We have two boy friends who live in a town about 15 miles away. They come to see us every Sunday night. Last Sunday there was a dreadful storm. As their car is not very good, we asked them to stay all night, and they accepted. Do you think this was the proper thing to have done?

Saturday night we went riding with two young men and met these boys. They got angry and won't speak now. Should we write and ask them to forgive us?

POLLY AND MOLLY.

It was all right for the boys to be invited to stay all night, since they were held back by the storm and the bad condition of their car. Doubtless the invitation was extended to them by your mothers.

Do not write and ask for forgiveness. Unless you are betrothed the boys had no reason to get angry because you were with the other boys.

Two Superior Court Cases Are Dismissed

Two criminal cases were discussed from the superior court calendar today upon the motion of Philip Sanborn, assistant district attorney. The case against Henry Hoveland, charged with operating a car while intoxicated, was dismissed. The assault and battery case against Mrs. George Pieh also was dropped.

Cerise Velvet And Silver Lace Make Chic Gown

A striking color combination is this evening frock of cerise velvet and silver lace. The ruffled tiers of the lace form the skirt—a bouffant effect. The velvet bodice is cut plain with a little horizontal fullness around the waist. Velvet leaves form a girdle.

The Story of an Artist's Wife

As Told to Grace Phelps

MAURICE'S ADVICE

Maurice's face was troubled but his answer was unshaken.

"Do? Do nothing! I know," as I made a move to interrupt, "I heard what he said. He convicted himself. But if you notice, he did not actually lie. He simply evaded a direct answer, by making you say what you had left home for lunch. If he meant to deceive you he would not have hesitated at a lie."

I flared up at him.

"You men always stick together, no matter what the other fellow does!"

"Come now, Ruth," he said, "that isn't fair. If I really thought Barclay was having an affair with Vera on the side, I would stand by you—no matter if you are only a new friend and I have known and liked Barclay for years. There is something queer about it, I admit but I don't believe Barclay would be guilty of anything underhand. My advice to you is to lay low and treat him as you always do. He may have some very good reason for lunching with Vera today."

It was the advice Inez had given me but I was not satisfied.

"Then why didn't he tell me about it?" I demanded. "Why should he go to all that trouble to keep it a secret from me?"

Maurice shook his head and smiled.

"If I knew that, I would probably know the whole story! There is something back of the mystery of course. But give Barclay a little time. He may tell you later."

If my own confidence in Barclay had not been so shaken I suppose I would not have needed such advice. But it seemed too much to ask in the face of all I knew. None the less, I determined to try to do as Inez and Maurice had advised. I would give him the benefit of the doubt — for a while at least. I gulped and tried to smile as Helene and Barclay came back.

"I must have the next one with you," he said beaming. "I know I am not much of a dancer—and since you have been studying with Riva, I daresay you will find me worse than ever. But I am not going to be like the chap in the song who could dance with everybody but his wife!"

I dropped my eyes. His tone was the affectionate, rallying one he so often used toward me. Could a man who was in love with another woman take that tone? I wanted to say no but the expression that I had glimpsed on his face when he helped Vera into her place at luncheon, swam before my eyes. I hardened my heart. No man who loved his wife could look at another woman like that! Maurice was wrong.

I made some appropriate remark however, and then Maurice came to my rescue. I managed to put a word in occasionally but it was not necessary. The dinner passed off without Barclay suspecting what was on my mind, I even danced with him but as I never like to talk when I dance, my silence was not noticeable.

Maurice thoughtfully prolonged the evening by insisting that we go on to his studio but I could not count on his presence forever, much as I needed him. We had to go at last. Neither Barclay nor I said much on the way home and when we went in, I pretended that I was very sleepy.

"Good night," I said hurriedly, "I'm going right to bed. I have to get up early tomorrow you know, for Rai Singh is taking me for my first riding lesson before I go to class."

Badger Grid Eleven, Strength Unknown, Prepares for Indiana Tilt

Team Is Mystery as to Ability; Prelims Haven't Shown Much

Leave For Indiana Thursday Afternoon At 5:30

By BRYN GRIFFITHS.

JACK RYAN'S "Mystery Team" —for that is what it is, went through a light workout at Camp Randall Monday afternoon in the first practice of the week for the Indiana fill at Bloomington on Saturday. It will be the first "Big Ten" game of the year for the Badgers, and just what is going to happen is a mystery to everyone concerned with the squad.

The Badgers are indeed a "mystery" in the two games played to date, the Cardinal hasn't given anyone the slightest idea of what they might do against a conference team. At times they looked bad and at times they looked good. At the close of each game, the followers of the Badgers went home "wondering," and they may be forced to continue wondering until the end of the season when Ryan's men may cause the entire football world to sit up and take notice or vice versa.

The term "unknown quantity" as applied to Wisconsin's squad early in the season is indeed an appropriate one, and although Coach Ryan himself is no doubt perplexed as to the true strength of his team, it's a cinch that conference scouts who visited Madison in the first two games didn't get much to write back to their schools. The Badgers suffered no ill effects from the game with the Aggies. Ryan gave them much drill on passing and signals.

Coach Ryan will leave with his men for Bloomington, Thursday afternoon at 5:30, arriving at the Hoosier town Friday morning. The day will be spent at the Country club, where signal drill will comprise the work.

No Wonder, Pal!

Moore, Bantamweight Has Quit Ring To Scan Quotations

CHICAGO—The solution of the mystery of the disappearance of Pal Moore, crack bantamweight battler, was found the other day when an old friend came across the punch artist in a broker's office, intently scanning the quotation board.

It develops that Moore has renounced the fight game for high finance and the report is the erstwhile battler is now wealthy.

Moore is said to hold 1200 shares of stock in a popular local taxicab enterprise. The present quotation on that stock is 268 a share. And this is said to represent but one of Moore's many investments.

Ernie Goozeman Gets Win Over Schaefer

CHICAGO—Ernie Goozeman was given a shade over Frankie Schaefer in their ten round bout at East Chicago, in the opinion of most newspapermen at the ringside.

McGraw Gets A Jewish Player; "Likes Dot Boy"

NEW YORK—For years John J. McGraw of them there Giants has been looking high, low and lower for a Jewish ball player.

Being emphatically Irish himself, Mr. McGraw deemed it essential to the continued success of his ball club to have a Jewish player.

No, no, not treasurer player.

He has finally succeeded. From Hutchinson, Kan., in the Southwestern league, McGraw bagged Moses Solomon, a first baseman.

Moses is somewhat of a Babe Ruth. Out in the bullrushes, or rather the bushes, Moses poel 48 homers in 112 games this year.

In his debut as a Giant he cracked out a two-base hit that decided a 10-inning ball game.

"I like dot boy," admits Mr. McGraw, dropping instinctively into the Hebrew.

Wolverines in Secret Work; Battle Ohio

But One Scrimmage To Be Held, Yost Says

ANN ARBOR, Mich. — Secret work featured the first practices of the Wolverines here after their defeat of Vanderbilt Saturday. Stress is being laid on the formations expected to be used against Ohio state next Saturday and Coach Yost is giving the squad talks on new plays and diagrams of plays expected to be used by the invaders.

Secret sessions will take most of the time of the squad this week and but one hard scrimmage is likely before meeting the Buckeyes. In this scrimmage the scrubs will use Ohio plays.

Michigan coaches are of the opinion they hit the best working combination in the game with the southerners last Saturday and it is doubtful if the line-up will be changed next Saturday.

U. W. Soccer Team Is Making Good Progress

Under the scientific training of Coach Schlatter, the soccer team is rapidly improving, as shown by their practice yesterday afternoon on the lower campus.

There is still plenty of room on the squad for men desirous of entering the sport, and after the field has been graded, rolled and the traces of last Saturday's massacre removed, the playing will be much easier. New goal posts with nets have been ordered and are expected daily.

Zev-Papyrus Race Is Big Sport Event

International $100,000 Match Scheduled Saturday

NEW YORK—With the world series out of the way, the attention of the sporting world today is focused upon the international $100,000 match race to be held next Saturday afternoon at Belmont park between Papyrus, the English Derby winner, and Zev, America's champion three year old. The interest in the event will be intensified today by the arrival of Steve Donoghue, England's greatest jockey, who will ride the English entry.

Donoghue Arrives.

Donoghue will arrive on the Olympic and tomorrow morning will go to the scene of the greatest race for a reunion with Papyrus, which he has piloted to most of his notable victories. He will be in the saddle when Papyrus goes through his training stunts tomorrow and it is thought that the horse's true form may be demonstrated on that occasion for the first time since his arrival.

Papyrus, the first foreign horse to be sent to this country for a great international event, arrived several days ago and is well acclimated and reported to be in excellent condition. Basil Jarvis, his trainer, arrived with him and his put him through a careful program on the track.

Zev Also Fit.

Zev has also undergone an intensive training and will be fit, according to his trainers when Earl Sande, recognized as America's leading jockey, rides him to the barrier. The event on Saturday will be the great international match horse race. Numerous racing men are here from England for the event and there appears to be considerable sentiment in favor of making it an annual affair between America and England.

Title For Hearne?

Eddie Must Capture 250 Mile Race Oct. 18 To Get Honors

KANSAS CITY—When 14 of the world's fastest drivers face Starter Fred Wagner in the Kansas City Speedway Thursday, Oct. 18, in the 250-mile national championship event, "Grandpa" Eddie Hearne must emerge the victor to clinch the highest honors in the motor racing game, the championship of 1923.

The veteran Eddie's winning streak began in the bowl here July 4 when he won the 250-mile race, and kept him company in Altoona, Pa., in the 200-mile race Sept. 4. His stock was raised 156 points when he came out second in the recent contest on the Fresno, Cal., track.

Hearne leads Jimmy Murphy, his nearest rival, for this year's speed crown, by 188 points, that is if Murphy's credits, which were taken away from him by the American Automobile association when he went to Europe, passing up the Altoona and Fresno events, are reinstated. Officials of the association have indicated they well meet the popular demand and return Murphy's points.

Frosh Basket Squad Cut Down To 50 Men

Coach George Levis, by cutting down the number of yearling basketeers from 150 to 50 in number, has arrived at a point where he will be able to arrange his practices into squads of manageable size. His aim is to finally reach a point where the players will number only 25, and be the pick of the frosh aspirants.

Yesterday afternoon the survivors of the second weeding out process spent a strenuous period in snappy scrimmages preceded by a rigorous drill in Head Coach Meanwell's short pass system upon which the victories of Varsity teams for several years past have been based.

McGuire, Former Maroon Star Goat For 'Funny' Story

CLEVELAND, O.—Iola Huffman, one of the greatest tacklers in the history of football at Ohio State university, is playing professional football here this fall.

Followers of football recall how Huffman talked Chicago out of an important game in the Western conference several years back.

On the Chicago team at the time was McGuire, another great tackler. Chicago had just come through a game with Princeton triumphantly, a game in which McGuire distinguished himself by outplaying Stanley Keck of All-American fame.

Near the close of the game between Ohio and Chicago, with the two teams apparently in a hopeless deadlock, Huffman suddenly barked at McGuire in this fashion: "So you are the great McGuire, huh? You are the man who stopped Keck. Well, see if you can stop Myers. He's coming through you on the next play for a touchdown."

Whether McGuire thought he was being spoofed or was taken completely off his guard by the audacity of the maneuver will probably never be known. But Myers took the ball on the next play and charged right over McGuire for the touchdown that won the game.

COLGATE AGAIN TACKLES HARD SCHEDULE AND HAS HOPES OF LICKING OLD RIVAL

Despite the fact that Colgate enrolls less than a thousand students it yearly plunges into a hard football schedule and usually comes out with colors flying. This year, after tackling Ohio State University the Hamilton N. Y., team takes on the Navy, Cornell and Syracuse Above are Coach Harlow and three of the Colgate stars.

Roundy Says:

Its the Open Game That Wins Football Battles Nowadays

Indiana nearly went cuckoo when the ybeat Northwestern Saturday. The students tore goal posts and all their snake dance after the game.

Former coach Williams they say sat up in the press stand at the Minnesota game Saturday and was all smiles. You know they gave "Doc" the nice way to lay-off at Minnesota two years ago. He's smiling they say as he looks out on Northup field as a spectator.

I saw a man that saw Minnesota play that game. They were not working together and there was sad lacking of team work. But they have the finest looking men in suits you ever lamped off. Great big fellows and rather fast but don't seem to get that polish and they lack class. But the material is there in bunches.

The man said that Martineau got mad once and grabbed the ball and shot off tackle and ran forty yards for a touchdown. And he dragged about "nine indians" over that goal line at the same time all holding on to him some place trying to get him off his feet.

That is the beauty of having a man like Grange of Illinois. He just needs one opening and he is off. He can pivot, dodge and side step and is fast. Once he gets into the open he is off. Those are the kind of runs that put the other side's dauber down.

He got in there and grabbed that ball against Butler when the game was a tie and just run it back of those goal posts and Butler was all done.

Illinois you might say is a one man team. A lot of fans say stop Grange and they are all shot. Harley, Kipke, Eckersall, Steffens, Devine, Gipp then were all one man teams' eh? Then get me all those wind of teams you want—I sure would love to bet all year on them.

There is Harris of Wisconsin who showed you some real line plunging Saturday. I figure Harris about the best line plunging back in the football world today. Boy he hits that line and has his old bean right down near that green grass. When you talk about driving off tackle then don't forget that Harris is the king-bee.

Holmes likes to drive off tackle also. That is his best bet. Holmes is not as fast a man as when he played at Wisconsin in 1920 by a darn-side. In 1920 he was a streak in the open.

Therefore old style football now days is like going into the next World War and expecting to win it with old muskets and bow and arrow.

You have to be modern and up to date now days and that takes in football also. The only way to get the big victorys is that open game. Forward passing is the method that gets that oval down near those goal posts. Skirting the ends and drives off tackle are a fine help to mix in it. But you know what a good pitcher needs if he is old and slipping. What does he get by on—that old mixing them up in there.

Look when we played Illinois here a few years back. We hit off their tackles and hit the center. At the end of the first half 9 to 0 and it looked like it would be 90. Wisconsin let out a forward pass barrage in the second half that beat all open football ever at Wisconsin. Once you get a couple of passes worked on them they are up in the air. That showed in that game. If Zupp men with a great team went all to pieces. And we scored two touchdowns so fast that they got cross-eyed following the ball. We won that game with the greatest open game ever shown at this school.

LET'S SEE.

This year the receiver of our forward passes has been just Irish. In the two games only one other pass has been shot at a Wisconsin man. That was to Taft last Saturday.

Not a short running pass has been pulled this year. All have been long ones. I know Wisconsin has two good short passers on the team and why the long ones? There is a reason.

When the Wisconsin backs get back there in the new formation it is a cinch you don't know what is coming off. There are four who can get the ball and get it in two different ways from their positions. That has a purpose.

When this system is given the proper time to work out it will be real smart football. It is new now and is crude in its workings. This stuff takes time. Right now it is awful to look at that is a cinch. For this year you can call the Wisconsin the "mystery team" but next year you can see Ryans style in its glory.

Harris this year has only gone around the ends twice. Remember that Harris and Holmes are two sweet catchers of forward passes, and don't think for a moment that Williams can't throw them either. To win games the oval will have to get plenty of "air" work to win the football games this year.

Like Rockne of Notre Dame he invited the Princeton scouts to come out on the side lines to watch the Army game. He plays Princeton this Saturday. What do you know about that?

Commerce Mag Grows Up; Cover Now Has Design

BY W. A. F.

The Commerce magazine has grown up and now is a full sized affair with an illustration on the cover. This morning the magazines go on sale in Sterling hall and on the campus, and students will find another campus publication of excellence.

Perhaps the most pleasing thing about the Commerce magazine seems to be that it has outgrown the stage of a mere contest running sheet with statistical data on how many girls smoke cigarets and how much gas is used at the university in a semester.

But rather, the articles in the publication this month are all of a practical as well as entertaining interest. Prominent men have written for the magazine and it has become more of what its name implies.

Of course, there are the usual interesting notes on how the faculty spent its summer and as to what the latest developments in the teaching staff are. Then there are the intimate campus notes and gossip stories. These things only stamp the magazine as a member of the college publication family and add rather than detract.

Eight Qualify for Nakoma Golf Meet

Arthur Pugh Looms As Probable Title Winner

Thirty players took part in the qualifying round of the championship golf tournament held at the Nakoma Country club course, on Saturday afternoon. The players were started off in pairs by Pro. A. E. Mayo at 1:30 o'clock. The contests in many instances were very close and were not decided until the final holes. The names and scores of the eight players who qualified and their scores are:

Arthur Pugh 75,	F. M. Lassigno 80
H. Woldenberg 86,	R. M. Volkert 78
Jos. Peck 76,	W. A. Walker 86
B. D. Dain 86,	J. F. Wilhelm 87

These players have been paired as above for the pre-semi final, and the survivors will contest in the semi-final, both to takep place during the early part of this week. The championship will be decided on Saturday afternoon, October 20.

Surprises of the playing on Saturday were the failure of J. A. Gillies, winner of the Director's cup tournament and Dr. Norman Nelson, winner of the mid-season tournament to qualify, both coming through with 94 scores for the eighteen holes. J. F. Wilhelm, another recent tournament winner, only just nosed into the tournament wih an 87 score. Ted Brown, C. A. Plasket, A. T. Rogers and A. M. Vinje, who were considered likely contenders for the title, were unable to enter the contest.

Pugh Looks Good

Arhur Pugh's chances of winning the gold championship are considered to be very good. Peck, his most formidable opponent, is one of the hardest drivers and surest putters of the Nakoma course. Neiher man should have any great difficulty in taking the scalps of the remainder of the eld. Many members of the club and some out-of-town visitors were present on Saturday to view the opening melee of the tournament.

Joe Turner in Another Victory Here

Defeats Demetral Two Out Of Three Falls

Joe Turner, Iowa middleweight wrestler, gave Jimmy Demetral a return match here last night—and repeated his performance of three weeks ago by defeating the local Greek. Turner won two out of three falls.

Turner won the first fall in 54 minutes with an arm scissors. Demetral won the second with a hammerlock in 16 minutes.

The Hawkeyes grappler came back strong for the third fall and gave Jimmy a flying mare he won't forget in a long time. It took Turner exactly one hour to get this fall. A small crowd attended the match which was interesting throughout.

Golfer Killed By Midiron Swung by His Fellow Player

SOMERVILLE, N. J.—Clarence E. Reed, 40 years old, employed by the United States Trust company, New York, who was learning golf on Friday on the links of the Raritan Valley Country club, was accidentally hit on the head by a midiron, swung by a fellow player. The blow stretched him on the field unconscious and bleeding. Reed was removed to a hospital where an operation disclosed that Reed's head was crushed above the left ear. He died Friday night.

Three city officials of New Brunswick, Eugene A. McLaughlin, James V. Harkins and Howard Stahlin, all friends of Reed, came here Friday morning for a holiday at the club.

Reed was felled by a blow from Stahlin's iron as he followed the movements of the player without realization of any danger. Stahlin was driving the ball. His stroke started from the right shoulder. As the stroke ended over his left shoulder his "follow through" crashed on Reed's left temple.

Giants Led Until The 8th When Nehf Weakens

(By the Associated Press.)

NEW YORK.—His mighty left arm weakened from overwork, his mind weary from the strain of outthinking, out-witting his opponents, Arthur Nehf, McGraw's last pitching ace, collapsed yesterday in the eighth inning of the sixth world's series game and the New York Yankees rode to triumph and their first world championship. They overcome a three run lead to win the game six to four and the series, four games to two.

Had Yanks Baffled

The Yankees baffled through the early innings by this pitching wizard Nehf, entered the eighth three runs behind, and it seemed cerain that the Giants would win the game, square the series and necessitate a seventh game to decide the championship. Aaron Ward, the Yankee second baseman, whose bat has been busiest of all during the series was first at bat in that inning.

He hit a high one that was gathered in by first baseman Kelly and Nehf still apeared strong. Only two hits had been made off his delivery then, one of them Ruth's home run in the first inning. Then Schang went to bat, hit the first ball pitched to left for a safety. Everet Scott next—not a dangerous batter, yet he hit a single down he first base line. Schang went to third, Miller Huggins' brain began to work. Hofman was sent to pinch hit for Pennock the pitcher. On four straight ball Hofmann walker. Bases full. Joe Bush wen to bat, pinch hitting for Witt. Four straight balls, all inside; one run forced in.

McGraw Calls Him

Nehf, head bowed, saw the hand of John McGraw flash from the dugout. A tragic figure he stuffed his greasy glove into his hip pocket and strode from the box.

"Rosy" Ryan, pitching, Dugan, the Yankee third baseman up. Dugan walked, again on four straight balls. Another run forced in. Yankees one run behind. A long series of cheers and shouts from the stands—Babe Ruth at bat. The crowd calling for a home run to a single, anything for that one run to tie. But the Babe, the mightiest batter of them all struck out. A moan from the stands. Bob Meusel at bat, two out, the bases full. Meusel's bat cracked the ball to center field for a single. Two runs across the plate. Cunningham recovering the ball, threw wildly to hird and another run couned.

The scoring ended there and so did the series.

Too Much For Giants

John McGraw's great baseball machine was broken down by the sustained attack of the Yankee men. Every pitcher on McGraw's staff tried and failed to check the batting streak of the American League champions. In the very rst game John Watson was batted from the box by the Yankee sluggers. The Giants won that game however, partly through bad luck experienced by Waite Hoyt, the youthful flinger of the Yankees, and a surprise home run by Casey Stengel in the ninth. The score was 5 to 4, Stengel's home providing the margin of victory.

No Special Train To Indiana For Badgers

The opportunity for the students to take advantage of the special train, which the Chicago and Northwestern would have run to Bloomington on the condition that at least 125 people make the trip, is probably lost because of the fact that only 50 rooters bought tickets.

It is probable, however, that either one or two special cars will be run to accomodate the team's loyal supporters who made arrangements for their tickets before the sale was closed and the tickets sent back to Indiana.

REPORT OF THE MARKETS

Report for October 16, 1923

Wheat Prices Steady With Few Changes

(By the Associate dPress)

CHICAGO—Only insignificant fractional price changes otok place in the wheat market today during the early dealings. Most of the trade was of a local character, with neither side having any special advantage. Bearish crop estimates from Argentina were circulated but failed to make much impression. The opening, which ranged from ⅛ decline to a shade advance with Dec. 1.08⅛ and May 1.12½, was followed by a slight general sag and then by trifling temporary gains.

CORN—In corn and oats as well as in wheat, dealers were in a waiting mood and early fluctuations kept within a range of half a cent. After opening ⅛c lower to ⅜c higher Dec. 76⅜ to 76½, the corn market continued to hold near to yesterday's finish.

General buying on the part of commission houses lifted the market suddenly about the time that whea began o oscend. Wet weather and floods were bullish factors. December corn touched a new high price record for the season. The close was unsettled ⅜@½c to 3¼c net higher Dec. 77½ to 77⅝.

General buying on the part of commission houses lifted the market suddenly about the time that wheat began to ascend. Wet weather and floods were bullish factors. December corn touched a new high price record for the season. The close was unsettled ⅜@½c to 3¼c net higher, Dec. 77½ to 77⅝.

OATS—Oats started unchanged to ¼c up, Dec. 43 and later scarcely stirred.

PROVISIONS—Provisions were easy in line with the hog market.

The market closed unsettled at a shade to ⅜ net advance with Dec. 1.08⅜@1.08¼ to 1.08¼. May 1.12⅜ to 1.12⅝.

Stock Market Firm Due to Short Covering

(By the Associated Press.)

NEW YORK—Short covering operations were again in evidence at the opening of today's stock market and the general list displayed a firm tone. United States Cast Iron Pipe advanced a point and U. S. and Bethlehem Steels, Dupont and American Can opened fractionally higher. Punta Alegre dividends of which were resumed yesterday lost ground in profit-making.

Speculations broadened and while the main trend was upward, a number of shares pursued a contrary course, most of which however were of the relatively inactive class, except Great Northern Pfd. and Northern Pacific which fell 1 and 2 points respectively, the latter establishing a new low figure for the year. Sonspicuous strength was displayed by the motors and accessory shares while there was also a smart demand for several of the steels. American Can, Dupont and Reynolds Tobacco B. the last mentioned touching 71 a new high figure for the year. Foreign exchanges opened irregularly.

The closing was weak Sales approximated 700,000 shares.

Oil Steals Are Now Being Investigated

THE leasing of the Teapot Dome Naval Oil Reserve, which was exposed at the last session of Congress by Senator La Follette under sensational circumstances, is under fire at Washington in hearings before the Public Lands Committee of the Senate.

The Northwest has a numerous representation on this committee. Senator Lenroot of Wisconsin, Senator Ladd of North Dakota, Senator Norris of Nebraska, Senator Walsh of Montana, and Senator Norbeck of South Dakota are members.

ON the eve of the hearings, Washington is alive with reports to the effect that evidence will be produced before the committee to show that not only the Teapot Dome oil fields in Wyoming but every foot of the naval oil reserve lands, set aside under the Roosevelt, Taft and Wilson administrations, have been leased to private oil interests, and that the oil reserves of the navy will be exhausted before these lands revert to the Government.

It is conceded on all sides here that a battle between the administration which signed the leases and its critics is looming up as one of the chief features of the next session of Congress, convening in a little over six weeks. "Conservation," —the issue which split the Taft administration and resulted in the Ballinger-Pinchot controversy, seems likely again to go thundering down the halls of Congress producing bitter feeling and comments on both sides.

Senator La Follette of Wisconsin, who flayed Former Secretary of the Interior Fall at the last session for his action in leasing Teapot Dome to the Sinclair oil interests, lead the fight for a Senate probe of the lease and was the author of the resolution, unanimously adopted by the Senate, under which the hearings will be held. Senator La Follette is still in Europe but he is due in Washington on November 3 and is expected to cooperate with Senator Norris and other Progressives on the committee who will conduct the investigation. It is unlikely that Senator La Follette will himself appear before the committee but he is certain to turn over to his colleagues the material he has gathered on the subject.

THE naval oil reserves have been the subject of much controversy in Congress for more than a decade.

President Roosevelt began the policy of "conservation" of public oil lands soon after he succeeded McKinley, withdrawing thousands of acres of western lands from entry. President Taft adopted the policy of his predecessor in respect to the oil lands. In 1913, it was announced that the United States Navy would burn oil instead of coal on its vessels and the naval oil reserves were extended from that date. President Wilson was committed to the policy, and at one time is reported to have served notice on one of his Cabinet officers that the latter's resignation would be demanded if he signed a lease alienating one of the naval reserves to private interests.

The five reserves which were set aside for the future needs of the navy were the following:

1. Teapot Dome, Wyoming, 9,481 acres, withdrawn from entry April 30, 1915.

2. Buena Vista Hills, Calif., 29,341 acres: withdrawn from entry December 13, 1912.

3. Elks Hill, Calif., 38,969 acres; withdrawn from entry September 2, 1912.

4 and 5. Shale oil reserves.

These reserves were intact as late as 1921, and were being administered by the Navy Department as emergency stores of oil, to be used in time of war. Secretary of the Navy Daniels had vigorously opposed every suggestion that the reserves be turned over to the Interior Department or leased to private interests.

The late Senator Paul Husting of Wisconsin, whom Senator Lenroot succeeded, was one of the chief advocates of the Naval oil reserve policy.

WHEN the Harding administration took office March 4, 1921, steps were taken to transfer the naval oil reserves from the Navy Department to the Interior Department. This was done, on May 31, 1921, by executive order. Since that date, and during the incumbency of former Secretary of the Interior Fall, all of the naval oil reserves have fallen into the hands of private oil concerns. The Buena Vista Hills reserve was leased by Secretary Fall to the Standard Oil interests, and certain portions of it were turned over to the Southern Pacific Railroad when claims of the railroad were found valid by the Secretary; the Elks Hill reserve was leased to the Standard Oil and Doheney interests; the Shale Oil reserves have been leased to a number of oil producing concerns.

The leasing of Teapot Dome, said to be the richest of the naval oil reserves, brought the naval reserve question to a hea din Congerss. Senator Kendrick of Wyoming, in whose state the reserve lies, and Senator La Follette of Wisconsin, took the floor of the Senate and demanded an investigation, chargihg that Secretary Fall had leased the property to his personal friend, Harry Sinclair, by a secret lease, without asking for bids.

At an investigation conducted by the head in Congress. Senator Kendrick of which Senator La Follette is chairman, and in which the Teapot Dome lease was referred to only in a general way, Mr. Sinclair estimated that Teapot Dome represents a value in oil resources of $100,000,000. Senator La Follette stated that oil experts of the government have hound the property to be worth nearer a quarter of a billion and that Sinclair took the lease under conditions which will enable him to net "millions of dollars from the transaction."

The action of the Senate in probing the Teapot Dome lease was the immediate cause of Secretary Fall's resignation, according to critics of the lease. Secretary Fall resigned last year to become identified with the Sinclair interests and has recently returned from Russia, where he acted as an agent of the Sinclair company is leasing oil lands in that country.

Ned Jordan's Views

Auto Manufacturer Tells of Problems Coming With Increase in Autos.

(From The Kenosha News)

Edward S. Jordan, former Kenosha man who has become one of the leaders of the automobile industry, has been looking forward and he has suggested ten fundamental facts which must be considered in connection with the future handling of the automobile. His suggestions are worth while reading and worth while a little study by people who are interested in the future development of cities. Mr. Jordan has not looked ahead very far and it is his contention that it is not necessary to go very far in the future to find that the automobile is to be one of the greatest if not the greatest of municipal problems. Here are the "ten fundamentals" which he suggests:

"Four million automobiles added to 10 million in use one year ago, will be augmented by the production of more than four million in 1924.

"Retail merchants must wake up to the fact that while their front doors are barricaded by six or eight automobiles, 60 or 70 customers are roaming around the streets looking for a place to park.

"Every old-fashioned bulky car owned and driven by father, will be replaced by at least two or three motor cars for mother and children.

"No policeman, silent or noisy, will be able to handle the traffic that is coming. Only millions and millions of feet of new street floor space can possibly take care of the congestion that is impending.

"No workhouse sentences nor reduction of speed will solve the problem. More floor space and higher speed for automobiles is absolutely necessary.

"Street cars are rapidly becoming obsolete except as incubators for automobile prospects.

"The question of the saturation point in motor cars can only be answered in three words, 'People won't walk'.

"Tax payers will wake up to the fact that the cost of parking spaces outside of the congested area, and wider streets, will double, as the real estate owners discover the necessity for providing more floor space. Millions can be saved by any city that takes the first step.

"No motor cars will be parked at the curb. Most streets will be one way streets. Taxi cabs will be as thick as mosquitos on a July night.

"The growth of population and the volume of business in any city will be in direct ratio to the amount of space provided for the movement of transportation."

Looking Backward

FIFTY YEARS AGO TODAY.

This morning, as Horace Tenney, son of Major H. A. Tenney, was passing the Milwaukee and St. Paul depot with a load of straw which he was bringing to town, the horse became frightened and started on a keen run, throwing Horace to the ground, and breaking his right arm.

A short time later his uncle, C. K. Tenney, was coming into town with the same animal, and His Horseship took it into his head to run away again, and this time he utterly demolished the buggy.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO TODAY.

Wisconsin beat Rush Medical in a football game at Camp Randall today. The score was 22-0.

The Madison Street Railway company has installed two new street cars. A wonderful feature about the new cars is that they have a brake. The old cars were controlled by a crank. The cars have been numbered 25 and 26.

A good story is going the rounds of Madison today, at the expense of our neighbor, Sun Prairie. Someone from Madison called the most pretentious hotel in Sun Prairie on the telephone yesterday afternoon, and ordered a hot supper for a party in the evening. "And make it a good supper, for Mr. Scofield will be a member of the party," the Madison man concluded.

The hotel-keeper thought that Gov. Scofield was about to honor Sun Prairie with a visit. Patriotism in the town rose to fever heat. It was time to show how Sun Prairie could greet the state's chief executive. Messengers were dispatched to the country to round up the G. A. R. members. A band was engaged to meet the governor. The honored hotel draped itself in the national colors.

When the party arrived, the governor was conspicuous by his absence. It turned out that Mr. Scofield was a private citizen, and that the governor was in another part of the state. The party, however, was a success, and all agreed that the supper was fit not merely for a governor, but for a king.

TEN YEARS AGO TODAY.

The struggle for the passage of the La Follette Seaman's bill is being waged in the senate today. Labor conditions on the High Seas have resulted in much individual suffering, and in fearful disasters to ships. It is charged that the Titanic sank because it was not provided with a sufficient number of skilled seamen. The La Follette bill provides for a nine-hour day for seamen, and for sufficiently large crews to assure safety.

Tip o' the Tongue

"AN expression in the church has been that we need the old-time religion, when the fact is it would be as difficult to revert to it as to the covered wagon of yesteryear. New problems face us, and they must be met in a new way. God is working through us. The man in the scientific laboratory is revealing the wonderments of God's handiwork. God is not an absentee landlord."

"WE don't want to offend Mr. Coolidge, of course, and neither do we want to do anything that might make him stop his paper, but right at the beginning of his administration somebody ought to open his eyes to the fact that he looks like thunder in a plug hat."

"BOYS and girls are not going to perdition, but the best way to send them there is to keep up all this talk about the evils of the younger generation. The girls, nowadays, are better than their mothers were and the boys are better than their fathers. They do not get into so much mischief, because they have more to think about."

Poems That Live

AUTUMN.

Thou comest, Autumn, heralded by rain,
With banners, by great gales incessant fann'd,
Brighter than brightest silks of Samarcand
And stately oxen harness'd to thy wain;
Thou standest, like imperial Charlemagne,
Upon thy bridge of gold; thy royal hand
Outstretched with benedictions o'er the land,
Blessing the farms through all thy vast domain.
Thy shield is the red harvest moon, suspended
So long beneath the heaven's o'erhanging eaves;
Thy steps are by the farmer's prayers attended;
Like flumes upon an altar shine the sheaves;
And, following thee, in thy ovation splendid,
Thine almoner, the wind, scatters the golden leaves!

—Henry Wadsworth Longfellow.

A Word on Health

The marsh is white with hoar frost,
The "skeeter's" song is stilled.
No danger now of aches and shakes,
The frost the "skeeter" killed.

To abolish flies in summer, clean up in winter.

There is more danger in the average steam heated office than in the storm swept field.

When you're coughing, when you're sneezing
And your nose is like the beet;
Stay away from Sabbath service,
Put the mustard to your feet.

Pest houses, whipping posts and witch burning have all been relegated to the barbarous past.

Spraying your nose to prevent the "flu" is like throwing a monkey wrench into the machinery to prevent a break.

Just Folks by Edgar A. Guest

AN OLD FRIEND.

I met an old friend yesterday,
A comrade from the far-away,
And glad was I his smile to see,
For this is what he brought to me:

The schoolhouse from the Long Ago,
The boys and girls I used to know,
The little home on Sibley street
Where all the youngsters used to meet.

The games we played, the things we did,
The secret places where we hid,
The pranks of all our youthful crew,
The punishments we sometimes drew.

A living book, he seemed to me,
Fresh come from memory's bindery,
A book whose leaves were edged with gold,
So many merry tales he told.

He walked alone, and yet I swear
A troop of gladsome folks were there,
For back of us he seemed to call
Our lost companions, one and all.

A hundred spirits danced about,
I heard them sing, I heard them shout,
And for an hour ('tis truth I pen)
I lived with them, a boy again.

Who meets an old friend on the way
Meets all the joys of yesterday,
The laughter which he used to know,
And all the charm of Long Ago.

TOOTS and CASPER — By Murphy

HELLO, TOOTS! MY, WHAT A STUNNING SUIT!
I'M GLAD YOU LIKE IT, GIRLS!
YOU DON'T ONLY HAVE BEAUTIFUL CLOTHES, BUT YOU KNOW HOW TO WEAR THEM! CLOTHES SURELY MAKE A DIFFERENCE! IF I'D ONLY HAD A NICE GOWN I CERTAINLY WOULD HAVE ENTERED THAT LAST BEAUTY CONTEST!
COMING FROM YOU! I FEEL FLATTERED! YOU BOTH HAVE SUCH GOOD TASTE!
I MUST ADMIT TOOTS HAS GORGEOUS GOWNS! I DON'T KNOW HOW SHE GETS THEM UNLESS HER HUSBAND IS NIGHT WATCHMAN IN A CLOAK AND SUIT HOUSE!
MY DEAR, IF YOU AND I DIDN'T PAY OUR BILLS WE COULD DRESS NICELY TOO! ALL YOU NEED IS A LITTLE CREDIT AND UNLIMITED NERVE!
SOME PEOPLE ARE BORN WITH SILVER SPOONS IN THEIR MOUTH. BUT THOSE DAMES MUST HAVE BEEN BORN WITH A HAMMER IN EACH HAND. I'LL BET THAT WHEN THEY WERE FOUR OR FIVE YEARS OLD THEY USED TO GET UP ON CHRISTMAS MORNING AND SPEND THE WHOLE DAY KNOCKING SANTA CLAUS!
IF A WOMAN IS SHABBY HER HUSBAND'S A MISER. IF SHE ONLY LOOKS NEAT HE'S A TIGHT WAD, AND WHEN SHE DOLLS UP BEAUTIFULLY HE'S LIVING BEYOND HIS MEANS!

TICKS O'THE TIMES

THE TAKING GIRL

She took my hand in sheltered nooks,
She took my candy and my books.
She took that lustrous wrap of fur,
She took those gloves I bought for her.
She took my words of love and care,
She took my flowers, rich and rare,
She took my time for quite a while,
She took my kisses, maid so shy—
She took, I must confess, my eye,
She took whatever I could buy,
And then she took another guy.

TO KNOCK OUT SOME OF YOUR EGO

Do you think that you swim? Can you swim with all of your clothes on and take them off in the water?

Do you drive a car well? Can you spin around the floor of a crowded garage and get into a narrow space?

Can you box? What would have happened to you if you had been in the ring with Dempsey recently.

Have you a social position? What would happen to you if you tried to make it in London or Paris?

Have you ability as a dramatic critic? What plays have you written? What would you look like if you tried to act even a simple part?

Japan is not apt to have another severe earthquake for 30 years, says Dr. Chester A. Reeves, expert geologist of the American Museum of Natural History. He finds that quakes come in cycles. That is, they are apt to repeat at certain intervals of time. This principle of the cycle operates all through our lives. For instance, prices reach about the same high peaks every 50 years.—La Crosse Tribune.

OCTOBER.

October, as its name implies, was originally the eighth month of the year in the Roman calendar. Several times the Roman Senate tried to change its name, as Quintilis and Sextilis were rechristened July and August to honor the Caesars. For while October was known as Antoninus, then Tacitus, and later Faustinus, but the people did not like any of the new names, so they were abandoned.

Only one widely observed holiday comes in October. Columbus Day, 431st anniversary of the discovery of America, falls on the 12th. On the 15th interest will be due on the Fourth Liberty loan. The last day of the month brings joy to children, for then comes Hallowe'en.

Oct. 2, John Andre executed a spy, 1780; Oct. 4, Rutherford B. Hayes born at Delaware, O., 1822; Oct. 6, Jenny Lind born, 1820; Oct. 7, First Colonial Congress met in New York, 1765; Oct. 8, great Chicago fire broke out, 1871; Oct. 9, Alaska transferred to U. S. by Russia, 1867; Oct. 13, Belgian government removed to Havre, France, 1914; Oct. 16, Marie Antoinette executed, 1793; John Brown's raid at Harper's Ferry, 1859; Oct. 19, Cornwallis surrendered at Yorktown, 1781; Oct. 28, Statue of Liberty dedicated, 1886; Oct. 31, Luther's theses nailed to church door at Wittenberg, 1517.
